GIANTS SCORE ANOTHER VICTORY

ALLIED DELEGATES RESUME NEAR EAST PEACE CONFERENCE

MOST OF NIGHT IS SPENT WITH THE MILITARY EXPERTS.

GENERALLY CONCEDED SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Hope, However, Has Not Been Abandoned By Peace Representatives.

CONSTANTINOPLE Oct 6—After conferring for most of the night with the high commissioners and military experts here the allied generals this morning prepared to leave again for Mudania for a resumption of the armistice conference

The result of the deliberations here was not announced It was conceded that the situation was serious, but it still was hoped a basis for common agreement among British, French and Italian delegations could be reached

LONDON Oct. 6—The Mudania conference is not ended it was officially stated at the conclusion of the British cabinet meeting this morning but it is deadlocked and cannot be resumed before the British and French governments have conferred over the situation

Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary will leave immediately for Paris to see Premier Poincare

A new crisis arose in the near eastern situation yesterday when the conference of allied, Greek and Turkish military leaders adjourned suddenly after a dramatic passage in which Ismet Pasha representing the Angora government, demanded that the Turks be allowed to occupy eastern Thrace as a precedent to any peace conference. He told the allied generals that the Turks could not have Thrace "peacefully we have the means to enforce our determination."

Early in the day the Greek delegates had declared in more less certain terms their readiness to fight, if necessary, to retain the province

That the Turkish demand had been duly weighed and calculated is evidenced by the almost simultaneous receipt of an Angora dispatch quoting Mustapha Kemal Pasha as declaring before the national assembly The evacuation and surrender of Thrace must occur immediately

Creates Definite Split.

Ismet Pasha a bombshell was followed by another when the French delegates announced they were instructed to support the Turkish demand This created a definite split with the Turks and French opposed to the British and Italians the latter holding that evacuation of Thrace by the Greeks and reoccupation by the Turks should follow and not precede the peace conference

The allied generals thereupon adjourned the meeting and left for Constantinople to consult with the high commissioners and the British and Italians to ask definite instructions from their home governments, with the understanding that a further meeting would follow their receipt

The message from Brigadier General Sir Charles Harington caused immediate action in Downing street The cabinet ministers were hurriedly summoned by telephone and special messengers and went into a session which did not break up until early this morning

Stringent Censorship.

London Newspapers this morning appear without any of the details of the conflict at Mudania which are known in the United States through dispatches to the Associated Press The British press is being badly served in Constantinople where according to the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic expert the British military authorities have established a most stringent censorship

The Turkish reply to the allies invitation to a peace conference which was received here yesterday is commented on by only one section of the press. The Times sees in the reply evidence that the Turks are not in a very pliant mood and expresses angry dissent with the suggestion that the conference be held in Smyrna which it thinks at best singularly tactless

It shows says the Times that those who made it are completely unable to appreciate the impression such a selection will make upon public feeling in the allied states and the United States To ask the delegates of civilized Europe to assemble on the scene of the recent havoc and massacre exhibits either callous insensibility or cynical contempt for the known judgment of the world The same point is made by some of the other commentators

The British cabinet today debated

SMASH ALL AVIATION ENDURANCE RECORDS

SAN DIEGO CAL Oct 6—All aviation endurance records have been smashed by Lieutenants John A MacReady and Oakley Kelly of the United States army who at 8 30 o'clock today had been aloft in their monoplane T 2 for 26 hours and 34 minutes The previous record was 26 hours 19 minutes and 35 seconds

When they hopped off they intended to attempt a non stop flight to New York in 26 to 30 hours but heavy fogs over the first mountain ranges caused them to postpone the feat But the huge motor of the T-2 was working nicely and they decided to remain in the air for an endurance test They spent the day and night circling about the vicinity of San Diego One of their messages stated that they would endeavor to cross the continent at the hazy full moon—in about a month.

PREVIOUS RECORD HELD BY TWO FRENCH FLYERS

NEW YORK Oct 6—The world's record for sustained flight in a heavier than air flying machine is held by Edward Stinson and Lloyd Bertraud who on December 30 1921 remained aloft above Roosevelt field Mineola N Y for 26 hours 19 minutes and 35 seconds It was stated today by aviation authorities Stinson used the all metal monoplane JL 6 The previous record was held by two French flyers Lucien Boussoutrou and Jean Lernard who in June 1920 stayed in the air 24 hours 10 minutes two seconds

It was stated that the San Diego flight had probably broken a record for United States army aviators

The Stinson world record breaking flight was made under conditions far more trying than those which prevailed at yesterday's flight or during the Frenchman's long spin With hardly any preparation Stinson and Bertaud went up in zero weather while a gale was blowing and snow was caking the wings of the plane. Training at about 50 miles an hour they covered 2,200 miles When they came down both fliers said they would have been able to remain aloft longer but for the cold

The French flight was made after elaborate preparations on a bright sunny day Weather conditions were good for endurance flying at San Diego yesterday and last night

MANAGER HUGGINS BLAMES TEAM BATTING SLUMP

By Associated Press
POLO GROUNDS NEW YORK Oct 6—The midget manager, Miller Huggins shuffled the deck of the Yankee pitching staff this afternoon and led with his third ace Waite Hoyt in hopes of winning a first victory in the world series from the Giants who are already in the proud possession of one game Manager John McGraw looked with critical eye over the Giant hurlers but gave no indication of his choice for hurling duties until game time

I have McQuillan and Scott both ready to start said McGraw, and don't forget that Rosey Ryan looked pretty good in there in the first game I am perfectly satisfied with the way my team is going and our pitching has been good.

I am not worrying over my pitching said Huggins but the batting slump the club is in If we can come out of it we should win the series

The day was warm and clear and a light breeze from the north wafted away the heavy October haze that has been bothering the batters as twilight came on during the last innings of play

The Giants were the home folks today and were first on the field for batting practice The Giants with few exceptions regard Hoyt as the most troublesome pitcher they will have to face in the series remembering the 27 innings he faced them a year ago without giving them an earned run

Casey Stengel the Giants center fielder was still suffering from a charley horse pulled in yesterday's game and took no part in the practice He may be out of the game for the remainder of the series.

All the unreserved seats were filled shortly after one o'clock and the crowd was still coming So far the attendances have exceeded those of last year's series

Stengel appeared on the diamond as the Giants concluding their batting practice He took one swing and went back to the bench limping badly

The batteries for the New York Yankees was Hoyt and Schang For the Giants McQuillan and Smith

The Giants went through their infielding practice in snappy style that brought rounds of applause The Yankees fielding work was also brisk

After McQuillan was called up Manager McGraw signalled him to the bench and sent out Deacon John Scott to warm up McGraw then decided to pitch Scott as he showed to be in better form

Manager McGraw said "I was going to start McQuillan but as he was no feeling just right and was not likely to show to the best advantage I decided to start Scott

The band played the Star Spangled Banner as the crowd rose to its feet while the players stood with bared heads

Round rules were dispensed at the plate

IMPORTANT CASES ON OCTOBER DOCKET STATE COMMISSION

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 6.—Application for general revision of freight rates on lumber shipments from southeast Texas and application of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad for increased division on intrastate traffic will be two of the principal considerations to be heard at the October hearing of the state railroad commission here Tuesday, Oct 10 according to the docket announced by the commission.

The october docket includes the following cases:

Establishment of freight rates on floor sweeping compound from San Antonio to Houston and other points.

Application to eliminate present tariff rules from diversion or reconsignment of carload shipments of sugar.

Freight rates to and from Beaumont to apply to Chaison and South Beaumont.

Application to apply hardwood log rates on stave bolts.

Application to apply 5-cent additional charge to Houston rates on flavoring syrup shipments to and from Galveston.

Revision of coffee rates.

Application authorizing three stops for unloading parts of carload shipments of ribbon cane syrup.

Establishment of rates on Kalsomine from Houston to Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Austin and San Antonio.

Adoption of express classifications of inter-state traffic and application of three to intrastate express.

The case regarding lumber rates involves a general readjustment of rates from points on the Southern Pacific lines, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway, and the Texarkana and Fort Smith railway and their connections to Galveston, Texas City, Houston, Beaumont, Orange, Port Arthur, West Port Arthur, Port Neches, Sabine and Sabine Pass and local points. The readjustment asked for would result in both increases and decreases, some increases amounting to 24 cents, it is stated.

The application of the Orient for increased division of freight receipts results from the refusal of Texas lines to grant the Orient increased divisions ordered by the interstate commerce commission on interstate traffic.

TEETHING BABIES WORRY THE TELEPHONE COMPANY

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—Both health authorities and telephone people have noted the disposition of teething babies to chew telephone receiver cords. Both groups deplore the practice. It is alleged to be unsanitary and also destructive to telephone equipment. There are declared to be places in Texas where the babies keep the telephone trouble men on the jump because their mothers have neglected to provide them with something to chew on.

Cats and dogs also find the telephone cords to their liking. Rats frequently gnaw through cable and cause a lot of trouble, it is said. Squirrels in the parks and forests traversed by overhead telephone cables often sharpen their teeth on them and cause short circuits and interrupt traffic.

IOWA PARK MAN LOCATES STOLEN CAR IN MEMPHIS

J. R. Pace of Iowa Park has been restored to ownership of a Ford touring car which was stolen from him a week ago last Thursday night. The officers in Memphis located the car and arrested the man in charge.

Sheriff Fred K. Smith was notified and was informed that the only marks of identification found in the automobile was a newspaper which bore the address of J. R. Pace, Iowa Park. Mr. Pace was in turn notified and immediately wired a description of his car.

The man arrested in charge of the car is said to be the man who escaped from Deputy Sheriff White at Frederick 10 days ago after he had made the arrest of three men and two women along the banks of Red river on the Oklahoma side. At that time the man was under arrest on charges of burglary.

ASKS $30,000 IN DAMAGES IN SUIT AGAINST M. K. & T.

Mrs. G. L. Gilbert in her suit against the M. K. & T. railroad company which went on trial Friday morning in the 89th district court is asking damages in the sum of $30,000 for the death of her son W. C. Rorex. The young man died, the petition recites, on Dec. 13, 1920, as the result of injuries suffered while in the employ of the defendant company and while in line of duty.

The petition recites that she is the administratrix of the estate of the deceased and that she is his sole heir.

The deceased came to his death, according to the petition, while working in the north yards. The plaintiff alleges that a switch engine ran over him.

ETAU ALLEN IS RELEASED UNDER BOND OF $2,500

Etau Allen, the negress who stands charged with the murder of Laura Buford last Wednesday afternoon, was released from the county jail Thursday night after perfecting a bond of $2,500. She waived examining trial before Justice of the Peace Gwinn and her bond was set.

At the court of inquiry Thursday afternoon the defense did not present any evidence.

Bessie Floyd, the sister of the dead woman, testified at the court hearing Thursday afternoon. She stated in court that the large toe on her right foot had nearly been shot away by a stray bullet from the gun of the defendant.

PARTLY CLOUDED SKIES REPORTED IN SOUTH FRIDAY

Agents on railroad lines leading southward from the city reported partly clouded skies. Locally thin strips of clouds were noticeable towards the south and east. The wind direction has switched to due south.

Thursday afternoon the mercury again mounted to the 94 degree mark and during the night receded to 72 degrees. The wind movement throughout the night was extremely light.

The night Thursday was one of the most beautiful nights enjoyed here for several months. The moon had a clear route entirely across the sky and the temperature had receded to a comfortable level shortly after sunset.

Hundreds of automobile remained on the paved roads leading from the city until midnight and after enjoying the early fall night.

ATTEMPT TO HAVE VOICE CARRIED ACROSS OCEAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—An attempt to have his voice carried from San Francisco to London through the agency of the long distance land telephone and wireless telephone was to be made today by H. Gordon Selfridge Jr., son of a London merchant.

Titian, the great Italian artist, died of the plague at the age of 99.

Tea yields from 240 to 320 pounds an acre.

EIGHT MEN CITED FOR CONTEMPT ARE RELEASED ON BOND

Five members of the city council of Burkburnett, the mayor, city clerk and city attorney were all served with the notice to appear in court on Friday, Oct. 13, to answer contempt proceedings and each perfected a bond of $100.

Sheriff Fred K. Smith prepared bonds for each of the defendants before going to Burkburnett and permited all of them to make bonds without bringing them to Wichita Falls. He approved the bonds at that place.

The contempt proceedings grew out of the dismissal of J. P. Ross from the pay roll of the city after his election to the office of city marshal and after several civil suits had been tried in the local district courts. The plaintiff contends that in dismissing him that the city council and officials violated an order of the court.

DELEGATES RESUME PEACE CONFERENCE

the situation in its entirely but the main point appeared to be the question of Thrace. It is understood the British view is there should be some consideration given the Greek minority population there and what might happen to it if the Turks were permitted to enter.

There seems to be no difficulty over the question of the Chanak area which the British have been occupying.

On broad lines the British policy it was stated, is the same as it has been since the Greek debacle, which means that the British are opposed to the Turks crossing the straits before the peace conference.

One interpretation of the French support of the Turks in their desire for the immediate occupation of Thrace is that the French are working for a compromise by which the French troops, instead of Turkish, would occupy Thrace. It is pointed out that the Turks might consent to such an adjustment which would gratify the French who have long been tenaciously fighting for a hold on Thrace which would counter balance the English fleet's dominance of the straits.

NEAR EAST SITUATION IS CAUSING UNEASINESS

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The near eastern situation is again causing uneasiness. The Quay D'Orsay is in the dark as to the latest developments at the armistice conference in Mudania, its only information being contained in press dispatches from London.

Nothing has been received from the near east except a long mutilated wireless dispatch from M. Franklin Bouillon, filed on Wednesday. Due to the errors in transmission, little could be made of this, but the French envoy appeared to suggest that Brigadier General Harington's personal conciliatory predilections were cramped by his limited instructions from the British government. Some alarm was caused by a report that the Greeks have dispatched two trainloads of troops from Salonika to Adrianople, capital of eastern Thrace. While this is as yet unconfirmed, dispatches from General Pelle, French high commissioner in Constantinople represent the Greek attitude in an unfavorable light.

It is also officially stated that from the British point of view the Turks are demanding more than was offered in the allied note and were not accepting the conditions of the note.

In authoritative quarters it is said to be probable that Premier Poincare will call the attention of the former Greek premier, Venizelos, and the new foreign minister, M. Politis, both of whom are in Paris, to the imprudence of such measures as the reinforcement of the Greek army in Thrace, which could be of no practical result and would be bound to cause further strife.

While deploring the continual hitches which are delaying a settlement, the French press sees no reason for pessimism.

Excelsior thinks the delay is caused by the attitude of the Greek generals who fail to realize that they must evacuate Thrace. The newspaper asks if they are not playing for time to enable them to concentrate what remains of the Greek army in Thrace.

The impropriety of sending troops into one of the disputed sections at the moment an armistice is in negotiation will be pointed out, as will the view that the Greek government by this action is adding to the embarrassment of her situation and to that of the allies.

The form of the French representations is described as firm.

Premier Poincare received ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece today. They had a rather brief conversation. Nothing of an official character respecting the conference was communicated to the public except that Venizelos had the kindest sort of a reception and that he did not have much to ask. He entered into some explanation it was said, of the trying situation of the country.

STATED AND PERMANENT CLERKS AR EREELECTED

SHERMAN, TEXAS, Oct. 6.—Rev. S. M. Templeton, for 34 years stated clerk, and Rev. R. W. Benge, permanent clerk, were both reelected today by the Texas synod, Presbyterian church U. S. A. in annual session here. Haynesville, La., was selected as the next meeting place.

There are 27,878,400 square feet in a city square mile.

Mother-Teacher Cooperation; Baby Has Gone to School, All Right, But He Hasn't Gone As Far As He Used To

Baby has gone to school"—
Mother is on the shelf—;
Humph, Like a fish, she is!
She's gone to school herself!

She doesn't stand in the doorway fifteen minutes after the sturdy little figure has turned the corner wondering who Billy's first teacher will be and if it will be somebody who loves children or somebody who couldn't find anything else to do but teach

She doesn't wonder if he will be in a sunny well ventilated room and if there will be open windows and pretty pictures that little folks love and if there will be no drafts on the floor where his little feet dangle

She doesn't worry because he will be away from his playthings and the wholesome recreation of his apple tree swing and his funny lit tle back fence see saw

Mother doesn't do any of those things nowadays the things that used to bring the tight little lone some little grown-away from feel ing to her heart when she saw curly-haired Mary Jane and cock sure Jimmie start hand in hand out the gate the first Monday morning in September

She goes to school herself She knows about the windows and the pictures and the drafts and the playground things She knows teacher's name before Jimmie him self knows it She knows some thing of the feeling that is stirring in the teacher's heart when the lit tle feet step over the primary threshold just as well as she knows the feeling in Mary Jane's heart when she tucked the slate and primer under her arm that morning And she not only knows what is stirring in teachers heart that minute but she knows something of that young woman's ambitions and ideas the things she is plan ning to build on and up to for Jimmie and Mary Jane Maybe there aren't any little shoes to button or bonnet strings to tie but there are a whole lot of big things to attend to that can lay little shoes and bonnet strings in the shade for a days accomplishment There are the things to think out for tomor row and next year and for the little folks who will be stepping over the threshold of school in the long days and years to come There are not only visions to see and roads to pave but there are teeter-boards to buy and buildings to plan and teaching methods to improve

And first last and most of all there is the wonderful cooperation to build up between Jimmie's mother and Jimmie's teacher The spirit that generates all of the other spirits and makes the lasting bridge over which Jimmie travels to successful scholarship and bet ter boyhood

Three Meetings Today

Three sets of them—these moth er teacher builders are meeting Friday afternoon The biggest one in Texas and two of the best—the Alamo parent teachers which are almost 100 per cent strong—the San Jacinto mothers teachers and the Bowie council There are special opening programs at each meeting with business sessions to follow They are going after members and money and ideas—the combination that will bring the best there is in school progress to the children of Wichita Falls

Two of the school councils met last week one two weeks ago and one Thursday There are just nine of them in all and by Christmas every mother of a school age child who isn't enlisted in her council will be explaining why to her next door neighbor who has called to find out The mothers are all in terested in their club study and their vote and their various other recreations and self-improvement work but first last and all the time they are interested in making the world better for Jimmie and Mary Jane And the school clubs are working at that from the foun dation up

BUSINESS WOMEN IN EARNEST THESE DAYS

Woman student of business women gives girls her rules for becoming executives.

By MARIAN HALE

Though a librarian by profession Helen Frances Thompson of Yon kers N Y finds it much more in teresting to study people than books

Her favorite character in real life is the business woman Under the pen name Jean Rich she has written an interesting little volume Dos and Donts for Business Women based on her observations and convictions

You see women are really in earnest about their work these days she explains 'and they are looking forward to executive positions just as men are

The growing demand for women executives proves women's ability to fill such positions

When asked to name a few qualifications for the executive she re plied

How to Climb

To be a successful executive a woman must know her job thor oughly The woman who has worked her way from the bottom of the business ladder, working in each de partment of the business makes the best type of leader

The executive must also have a keen understanding of human na ture Her sympathetics must be keen She must be able to get the other person's point of view She must show absolute impartiality and never play personal favorites

Radiate Enthusiasm

She must be able to inspire con fidence and respect in those under her which is only possible if she al ways plays fair with her subor dinates

She must radiate enthusiasm in her work and have a good sense of proportion She must not over-emphasize details at the expense of more important matters

She should know a little more do a little more and think quite a little more than the average and keep herself above the crowd

Keep a clear conscience and a clean desk

Delphians Enjoy Splendid Program At First Meeting

The Delphian club opened their year's study course with an excep tionally good program and a most enjoyable reception and social meet ing at the Wichita club Wednesday afternoon A number of special guests gave the first meeting an added attractiveness and the con tributions to the program of two visiting artists Mr Stanley Raub violinist and Miss Nora Deussen ader made the occasion one that will be remembered with delight and appreciation by the members and guests

Flower bouquets for the opening meeting included Mesdames H J Lemon Livingstone Bain O E Archibald F R Collard W W Cook J J Perkins and Miss Lillian Bain Mrs Lucy presided at the opening in the absence of the president Mrs Marvin Smith welcoming the guests and extending greetings to the members

Mrs John W King sang three beautiful numbers in an English group with Miss Annette Walsh at the piano The numbers were Cyril Scott's Lullaby Dowland's Bro ken Song and Sleep My Little One

Miss Deussen who is a native visitor from San Antonio and a very entertaining and talented dramatic reader gave a selection from Longfellow's Courtship of Miles Standish and Kipling's Mandalay with a dialect telephone conversation for an encore

Mr Raub's numbers were not only especially well selected but were interpreted with the ease and finish which has already placed him in the foreground of the Wichita Falls musical artists He was also fortunate in having the support at the piano of Mrs F P Collard who had worked with him in the preparation of the three beautiful numbers—Hungarian Czardas Dilas Serenade and the Canzonetta and whose accompaniment was markedly pleasing

Following the program tea was served from the table by Mrs J C Barney and Mrs Walter Robertson two club workers well known not only in the district but in the state Both responded in a manner which was received with interest and pleasure by their home friends and co workers Mrs Cook also spoke appreciatively of the work with the local club of Mrs Charles William Wallace director of the study course who is away from the city and whose absence from the opening meeting was very much regretted

Mud Will Bring the Bloom of Youth Back—Even If It Never Bloomed At All; Read the Blooming Mud Pie Tale

By MARGARET ROHE

Is your complexion sallow dear? Have you big pores? Is your face queer?
If so I pray you shed no tear
Just spread on clay from ear to ear
Just make a mud pie on your face
And give it 30 minutes grace
Of blemish then there'll be no trace
And as a beauty you'll win place

NEW YORK Oct 6—Now we know what they mean when they talk about the beauty crop"

Pulchritude in these days of 1922 is being cultivated just like the garden

If you want your slightly wither ed face grow like unto a blooming rose all you need to do is to add a little top soil to your physiognomy and the blooming mud will do the rest

When you take your muddy com plexion to Elizabeth Arden Doro thy Gray or Kathleen Mary Quin lan these high priestesses of beau ty and facial esthetics are sure just to add a little more mud

Of course in the parlance of their salons de luxe a face pack is what you get at $ and $10 per pack Nevertheless its name is mud at any price

Though all the beauty specialists do you dirt still after the applica tion of one of these facial mud pies even Venus will have no more on you than she had on herself and that wasn't much if we are to be lieve the Venus family album

How It's Done

When you go to have your face done in mud at a salon de beaute the masseuse first smears your helpless countenance with cleans ing cream As one of your vital needs she next kneads in a tissue cream

When this is wiped off a gooey paste of the mud or clay is daubed on nice and hot and you are then set aside to cool

As the clay mask dries your face begins to tingle and when it's all a twitter the clay is softened with cold water compresses and then washed off

Oil is then poured on your trou bled countenance to remove any stray particle of mud from each and every open pore An astringent is dabbed on next and then comes a rub down with ice

After this frosty finish you are smartly slapped in the face with a patter and then you may take your rejuvenated countenance home and show it off to your admiring friends and family

Try It Yourself

If you want to make your own facial mud pies and do a little clay slinging in your own boudoir and face all sorts of special bargains in complexion clays are being advertised these days

All you have to do is send the coupon from your favorite magazine with postage and $1 95 and a $5 jar of wonder working complexion clay is yours

It's guaranteed to put a different complexion on things in 40 minutes only for goodness sake don't forget you have it on and answer the door bell in the mud like the matron next door did last week The shocked postman thought the poor soul was mortified—which indeed she was

When it comes to a question of mud and minutes another house offers to supply you a jar of clay for $1 87 which will do the dirty work in only 30 minutes

This is undoubtedly some clay feat Considering what it costs one to wallow in the luxury of a mud facial at a Fifth avenue beauty salon these marked down clay days for the home and fireside face certainly are dirt cheap

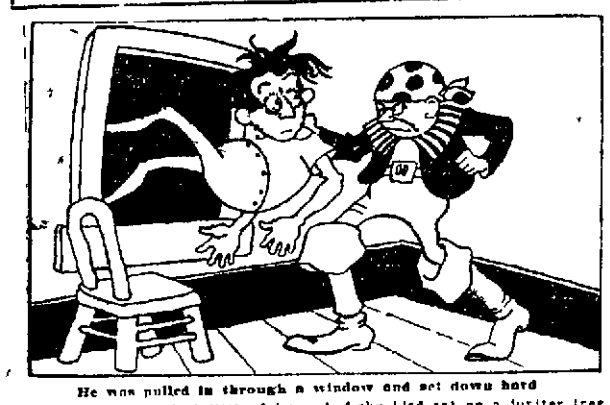
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Foiled!—Buskins Halts Light Fingers' Plan to Wreck Twins in Auto

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON



He was pulled in through a window and set down hard

Light Fingers a bad little fairy was just about to scatter some tacks on the Milky Way in front of the Magic Automobile Nancy and Nick were riding in

He was hiding behind a queer lit tle board house that stood just be tween the Wishing Tree and the Peppermint Tree waiting for the right minute to throw the tacks on road

Suddenly he felt a hand on his collar and before he could think what happened he was pulled in through a window and set down hard

What in creation are you trying to do? demanded a stern voice

Why I—I was just singing stammered Light Fingers I was just singing a song

So I heard said the stern voice "Sing it again"

Light Fingers had to obey al though the hand on his collar hadn't loosened and was nigh to choking him He began weakly

A dicky bird sat on a jupiter tree Tum tum te tum dum te tum dum—"

"Go on said the stern voice I want to hear the rest

Light Fingers went on huskily

There never was anyone smarter than me
Tum dum te tum dum te—"

That will do said the voice and at the same time the hand that was holding to Light Fingers collar let go I'd be ashamed of myself if I were you Pesdea you're not so smart as you thought Give me those tacks

Light Fingers handed them over Wh—who are you? he asked as meek as Moses

I'm Buskins the apple tree fairy said the owner of the stern voice I run the apple tree elevator up into the sky This is it we are in row and you're going back to earth with me right away

Jelly Beans in Imitating "Rudy" Lose Garments

Two alleged jelly beans, residents of this fair city of Wichita Falls attempted to imitate Rudolph Valentino Thursday night and as a direct result were chased by a band of ten men and finally captured When the party of men finished their aim the two youngsters were minus a portion of the adornments of their wearing apparel.

The two were spotted near the Labor Temple at 9 o'clock Thursday night. According to a person who had cast his eagle eye in their direction they wore sashes around their waist bands and had their trouser legs slit up the side of the leg a distance of eight inches The slits had been artistically woven together with bright colored ribbon

But the party of "he-men" appeared and the chase was on. It ended near Tenth street where both were divested of their sashes and lay by while the decoration was removed from the slit in the trouser leg.

No report was made to police headquarters or to the county officials

NEGRO FINALLY ADMITS HE FOUND WRIST WATCH LOST ON STREET CAR

Chief Detective Jack Millar Thursday recovered a wrist watch which was lost on the Ninth street car Saturday A negro leaving the car was seen to pick up something and conceal it in his clothing without looking at it. The negro was questioned, but refused to tell what it was that he found, saying he knew nothing of the watch. Chief Miller had reason to believe that the negro was the one who found the watch He administered a light application of the "third degree" and the darky told immediately where the timepiece was It was found concealed in a snuff box inside a trash can at his home. He was fined $10.

Juniors Should Be Congratulated On Their Forbearance

The glory and dignity of high school seniority was maintained Friday morning when the senior boys came to school wearing high collars and black bow ties The girls of the class also contributed by wearing glassless horn rim spectacles, the mark of intelligence At noon Friday, no violence on the part of the juniors had been reported

All this was a result of the class meeting Thursday afternoon where it was voted to continue this ancient custom of wearing of the high collars every Friday.

The class ring and pin was decided upon after a report of the committee. The price set for the rings is $7, and the pins, $3 50. Local jewelers were given a chance to bid but the rings and pins were ordered from an out-of-town house.

The Coyote staff committee, who has been working for several weeks in choosing seniors to be recommended to positions on the staff, reported at the meeting that four staff members were chosen, and were elected by the class They are Miss Elizabeth Carrigan, photographer; Clifton Haynes, athletic editor; Courtney Howell, business manager, and Ridley Maples, art editor. The chairman of the committee stated that within a few weeks the entire staff would be chosen.

The following class members were appointed by the president Joe Bashara, to serve as social committee; Miss Elizabeth Brown, Ridley Maples, Miss Lucile Smith, and Miss Florence Datson. Jack Fink, chairman of the dress up day committee reported that the program for the day would consist of seven acts of vaudeville, but that the date had not been definitely set.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies.—2 Thessalonians 3:12.

Work earnestly at anything, you will by degrees learn to work at almost all things.—Thomas Carlyle.

BIRDS FLY SOUTH.

Jack Frost is beginning to get in his work up north in Canada. Birds soon fly south. These migratory flights are mysteries of science.

How do they know when to start and where to go and how to find their way?

Bird migration "is a very old habit, an inborn instinct which was developed ages ago, and which manifests itself year after year in a uniform manner and without any remarkable close conformity to immediate conditions."

This is Prof. J. Arthur Thomson's explanation in his "Outline of Science." In other words, the annual southward flight of birds is a habit developed gradually through thousands of years.

One scientific explanation is that the great ice age, when glaciers moved down from the north, drove birds south. When the ice slowly retreated, they flew back to their old homes in warm summer, but returned to the new homes in winter.

One guess is as good as another.

Ever wonder how fast birds travel when they migrate south? Some of them reach a speed of more than 50 miles an hour. When weary, as you have noticed, they camp for a rest—"hang around" a certain locality for a day or so.

Ducks travel 44 to 59 miles an hour and small songbirds 20 to 37 miles an hour, according to Colonel Meinertzhagen's observations. The bird named the "swift" has been known to pass an airplane doing 68 miles an hour, and reaches a speed of more than 100 miles when flying with all its energy and skill.

Hunters, now oiling their shotguns, soon will be shooting wild geese and ducks.

The geese travel in a sort of V formation, one side longer than the other, like a broken wishbone. Shoot the leader and the formation closes up, the next bird in line taking the fallen leader's place.

Shoot the leader of some kinds of wild ducks and, say the Ojibway Indians, the flock flutters to the ground, preferably a swamp, and presently rises after much chattering in which they seem to elect a new leader.

This is the sort of adventure, romance and mystery that flies over our heads and exists all around us in nature. And yet some people frequently yawn, bored with life, and complain that they can find nothing interesting.

ARE WE SATISFIED WITH THE WORKINGS OF THE PRIMARY SYSTEM?

The Waco Times-Herald, an able exponent of Jeffersonian democracy, declares that the primary system is destructive of party organization and that as a result workings of the primary system what we have today in this country is merely the shells of parties with the kernels gone.

Membership in a party is only nominal, continues The Times Herald. Control is in the hands of those who seek the offices.

Isn't there truth in what the Times-Herald says? Are we not drifting, in a political sense, because the people themselves no longer determine the issues, but they are made by office seeking candidates. And the people no longer name able and stalwart leaders; they merely choose between men who seek nomination.

There are some of us to whom these facts are not very palatable, but we cannot blind ourselves to them.

The Times-Herald says, "That is the situation, are you satisfied to leave it as it is? If so don't ever complain about the sort of government you are getting—that's all."

KINGSHIP NO JOB FOR A TWO-FISTED MAN

Constantine has abdicated as king of Greece and his son, whom he proclaimed his successor, is but little more than the instrument through which the revolutionary committee carries through its decisions.

The Sultan of Turkey wants to quit the sultan or king business.

The world war gave the kaiser-king business a hard job, even if it did bring on some institutions that were no improvement on it in Russia and some other countries.

When Theodore Roosevelt was a candidate for a third term as president some of those who opposed him charged that he wanted to become a king. With fine scorn and contempt Mr. Roosevelt declared that kingship had no attraction for him and that he would not accept a crown even if offered him on the stereotyped silver platter.

Mr. Roosevelt knew that kingship was more a thing of formality and emptiness in this modern world. It is hard to believe that any real two-fisted man could feel badly about losing his throne.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE GRASS.

Long before the trees came, far in advance of the animals and the running feet of man, and preceding the life of the flowers of the field, God placed as a blanket for His earth—the grass!

I find this mind of mine all too inadequate to put into words expression fit enough to describe the glory and beauty of the grass.

We look out of our window in the morning when the dew is fresh and heavy under the rays of the sun, and watch the diamonds flicker there. In springtime we watch the little heads of the crocuses, the daffodils, the violets, the buttercups, and the thousands of varieties of field and garden flowers, smiling so happy and free from out this gorgeous green.

We walk across its velvet and feel a personal glow of satisfaction that is reflected back into our very soul, for we know that we would go out into the world heavier in heart but for this colorful cheer that is universal throughout the world.

The trees, the sun—grass. Blessed trinity!

Go where you will, from the loneliest wilderness to the most peopled town, and there you will find this friend to all mankind, working its way silently and with persistence that is almost divine in its cast.

Build you a home and the first thing after its completion is to plant the grass. Let the dry winds and the hot sun parch its strands and a dreariness immediately settles upon that place and men pray for rain that this cheer of green may return.

Out upon the grass the children play and against its soft raiment babies creep and laugh.

Its immortality is fixed—for against fire, famine and disaster does it contend and yet live. And though marching armies blast its loveliness for a time and bathe its roots in precious blood, still do the winds of Heaven remember and bring back to these same fields renewed beauty and fresher life.

The patient grass, so all suffering, so full of teaching in lessons for us all.

Look at the huge rocks, softened by its hugging presence. Rest against its heart and within its invisible arms along the banks of some noble stream, and imagine its absence there. What desolation, what sadness! And think of the birds that romp among its blades and build from its dying tops nests of warmth for their young.

How we miss the grass during its long sleep under the white snow—but how it lifts all life when spring comes round again and the dandelions dot its face.

Thank you, God, for this grass of yours—loaned to us for a time while we live and which covers this body of ours at last as it doses into its longest sleep under the sun and stars.

THE MOON.

Last night our baby saw the moon,
A wondrous ball of yellow gold,
It seemed to her a toy balloon
Which she had strength enough to hold,
And so she reached her arms above
As babies ages long have done,
She wanted it to keep and love—
The moon's great magic had begun

Here is the monarch of our dreams,
From innocence to worldly-wise,
This gentle, peaceful, planet seems
To lure us ever to the skies.
The moving tide of men he draws
In spite of all the battles fought,
The selfish striving for a cause,
To lofty dreams and nobler thought

He seems to hold a regal sway
Over the hearts and minds of all.
The scholar, worn and bowed and gray,
Turns when the shades of evening fall
And in that glorious flood of light
Sees what his lips can never teach,
Visions of beauty and of right
Which he has hope some day to reach.

The moon is father of our dreams,
He holds us all within his sway,
Into our clouded minds he streams
To wash the doubts and fear away,
And like the babe who reaches out
Small hands to grasp this treasure great,
So grown-ups everywhere about
Look to the moon and dream, and wait.

CANADA.

American tourists this year take $100,000,000 to Canada and leave it, according to Jack Canuck's government authorities.

The Canadian Rockies are pulling visitors as strongly as ever. But the big jump in tourist traffic is in and near Quebec and Montreal, where liquor floweth freely. It is not impossible that prohibition in the United States will wind up by the wets migrating northward for good. At any rate, Yankee thirst will help pay off Canada's debt.

FLYING.

Important safety device for airplanes is placed on the market by A. V. Roe & Co. It is a shock absorber to make landing easy and eliminate bounding, especially on rough ground. If you live 20 more years you will see airplanes settle down as slowly and lightly as a feather, moving a few inches right or left so paint will not be scratched while entering the air garage through the roof.

CENSOR.

People of influence induce the Japanese government to suppress the news about a murder. The Kobe Herald appears with this headline, "Terrible Tragedy." Below is a blank space.

You can't imagine it happening in America. And that is the chief reason we have no such autocracy as have the Japanese. Freedom of the people begins with freedom of the press. It also ends when press censorship begins.

MOVIES.

A new process for making moving pictures in all colors of the rainbow is being financed by William Hamlin Childs, big man in the dye industry. He uses a new process, one film pasted over another, in two layers.

The cost is said to be just about double that of the black-and-white film but film cost is only a fraction of the expense of making and marketing a movie.

Within 10 years the colored movie will be in general use and black-and-whites will be used only for artistic effects.

PETS.

The average city dweller is not a lover of pets, says Frank D. Hutchins, secretary of the Pet Dealers' association.

He finds foreign born citizens "very fond of pets," especially Germans, Irish, Scotch and Italians.

The leading demand in the pet business now is for pigeons which are selling at $5 to $150 a piece in New York.

It is all very fine to be kind to animals. But a good deal of affection is wasted on pets that should go to humans.

BRUISES—CONTUSIONS

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

A contusion is a blow to any part of the body without the piercing of the skin. Some contusions are of slight importance, others are serious.

The little boy who falls down stairs and bumps his head has a contusion. It turns black and blue because the force of the blow broke blood vessels beneath the skin. If, however, it is a severe contusion of the legs, parts protected by a great deal of muscle, you will not get the results just mentioned, so far as outward appearance is concerned.

Bruises, however, develop and become black and blue later on. A person may accidentally be hit in the leg and go on for several weeks and consider the injury as nothing very serious. But such a person may die because the small blood vessels, not the big ones, got broken and formed a hematoid condition, an infection of the blood.

You may have seen someone who has injured his finger by a hard blow. And later you may see the same person without that particular finger or finger tip. The injury may develop a felon, not so large at first, but with later serious effects.

In the case of a contusion to the head, there may be a severe jar or partially broken nose. Semi-consciousness or unconsciousness sometimes follows. If you are aware of having had a blow of some kind, though no serious results immediately followed, don't neglect it until too late.

EPISODE TWO

The Ruling Passion

CHAPTER I

Nobody understood how Jose Quintana had slipped through the secret service net spread for him at every port.

The United States authorities did not know why Quintana had come to America. They realized merely that he arrived for no good purpose and they had meant to arrest and hold him for extradition if requested, for deportation as an undesirable alien anyway.

Only two men in America knew that Quintana had come to the United States for the purpose of recovering the famous Flaming Jewel stolen by him from the Grand Duchess Theodorica of Esthonia, and stolen from Quintana in turn, by a private soldier in an American forestry regiment, on leave in Paris. This soldier's name probably, was Michael Clinch.

One of the men who knew why Quintana might come to America was James Darragh, recently of the military intelligence, but now passing as a hold-up man under the name of Hal Smith and actually in the employment of Clinch at his disreputable "hotel" at Star Pond in the North Woods.

The other man who knew why Quintana had come to America was Emanuel Sard, a Levantine diamond broker of New York, Quintana's agent in America.

Now, as the October days passed without any report of Quintana's detention, Darragh, known as Hal Smith at Clinch's dump, began to suspect that Quintana had already sailed into America through the meshes of the police.

If so, this desperate international criminal could be expected at Clinch's under some guise or other piloted thither by Emanuel Sard.

So Hal Smith, whose duty was to wash dishes, do chores, and also to supply Clinch's with "mountain beef" (deer taken illegally)—made it convenient to prowl every day in the vicinity of the Great Lake Road.

He was perfectly fine as with Emanuel Sard's squat features and parrot nose [illegible] Mr. Sard of Quintana's other aid of $100 at pistol point. [illegible] Ghost Lake [illegible] Smith [illegible] Sard [illegible] five [illegible] of [illegible] aspect.

CHAPTER II

Clinch's dump was the disposal plant in which collected the human sewage of the wilderness.

It being Saturday, the scum of the North Woods was gathering at the Star Pond resort. A venison and chicken supper was promised—and a dance if any women appeared.

Jake Kloon had run in some Canadian hootch. Darragh, alias Hal Smith, contributed two fat deer and Clinch cooked them. By 10 o'clock that morning many of the men were growing noisy, some were already drunk by noon. Shortly after midday dinner the first fight started—extinguished only after Clinch had beaten several of the backwoods aristocracy insensible.

Towering amid the wreck of battle, his light gray eyes a-glitter, Clinch dominated swinging his iron fists.

When the combat ended and the fallen lay sluggish where they fell, Clinch said in his pleasant, level voice:

"Go to sleep and stick their heads in the p[illegible]. And don't go for to get [illegible] boys on. I'm liable to act up rough."

They bore forth the sleepers for

He was [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] pond, who reported progress to [illegible] consciousness. They walked back to the [illegible] together.

"Say, young fella," said Clinch in his soft, agreeable way, "you want to keep your eye peeled tonight."

"Why?" inquired Smith.

"Well, there'll be a lot o' folks here. There'll be strangers, too. Don't forget the state troopers are looking for you."

They had passed on the rough veranda in the hot October sunshine.

"Mike," suggested Smith carnestly, "wouldn't it pay you better to go straight?"

Clinch's small gray eyes which had been roaming over the prospect of lake and forest, focused on Smith's smiling features.

"What's that to you?" he asked.

"I'll be out of a job," remarked Smith, laughing "if they ever land you."

Clinch's level gaze measured him. His mind was busy measuring him too.

"Who the hell are you, anyway?" he asked. "I don't know. You stick up a man on the Ghost Lake Road and hide out here when the state troopers come after you. And now you ask me if it pays better to go straight. Why didn't you go straight if you think it pays?"

"I haven't got a daughter to worry about," explained Smith. "If they get me it won't hurt anybody else."

A dull red tinge came out under Clinch's tan.

"Who asked you to worry about Eve?"

"She's a fine girl, that's all."

Clinch's steely glare measured the young man.

"You trying to make up to her?" he inquired gently.

"No. She has no use for me."

Clinch reflected his cold tiger-gaze still fastened on Smith.

"You're right," he said after a moment. "Eve is a good girl. Some day I'll make a lady of her."

"She is one, Clinch."

At that Clinch reddened heavily—the first finer emotion ever betrayed before Smith. He did not say anything for a few moments, but his grim mouth worked. Finally:

"I guess you was a gentleman once before you went crooked, Hal," he said. "You act up like you once was. Say, there's only one thing on this earth I care about. You guessed it, Hal. He was all again upon his ruling passion.

"I guessed it," nodded Smith.

"Sure. She isn't my flesh and blood. But it seems like she's more [illegible] I want she should be a lady. It's all I want. That damned millionaire Harrod built me. But he couldn't stop me giving Eve her schooling. And now all I'm livin' [illegible] to be fixed so's to give her money to go to live [illegible] lady. I don't care [illegible] I want is to make it. And I'm going to."

Smith nodded again.

Clinch, now obsessed by his monomania, went on with an oath:

"I tell you there's no money on the level! [illegible] Harrod goes to me. And I battle it up for [illegible]. What the hell [illegible] would it do me to have it right? I don't [illegible] one of 'em. A lady isn't supposed to have a crook for a father.

Clinch's gray eyes blazed for a moment. His mouth grew hard, drilled, filed out into wintry flint.

"I wasn't born a crook," he said. "I ain't got no choice. And don't worry, young fella, I'm ain't going to get me."

"You can't go on beating the game forever, Clinch."

"I'm beating it," he hesitated—and it wasn't [illegible] automobile and her own father and [illegible] her swell friends in a big house like she is educated for—"

He broke off abruptly as a procession approached from the lake, escorting the battered gentry who now were able to wabble about a little.

One of them a fox faced trap thief named Earl Leverett, think Leslie, turned sullenly as though expecting another kick from Clinch.

"Go wash inside, Earl, and act up right," said Clinch pleasantly. "You oughter have more sense than to start a fight in my place—you and Sam Jones and Harvey Chase. G'wan and behave."

The crew filed following the process of damaged ones into the house. The big unpainted room where a bar had once been was blue with cheap cigar smoke, the air reeked with the stench of beer and spirits. A score or more shambling forest louts in their dingy Saturday finery were gathered there playing cards, shooting craps, lolling around tables and filling sloppy glasses at one another.

Rough pleasantries were exchanged with the victims of Clinch's ponderous fate as they [illegible] the room when they had been hove so recently, first that.

"Now, boys," said Clinch kindly, "act up like swell gents and behave friendly. And if any ladies come in for the chicken supper, why, gol dang it, we'll have a dance."

"HOBO COLLEGE" DRAWS THOUSANDS

James Eades Howe, founder of Chicago's "Hobo College."

By NEA Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Chicago's Hobo College is just opening its fall term.

And judging from the hundreds of down-and-outers, panhandlers, jobless men and others out of luck who are pouring in from all parts of America, this year's enrollment will set new records.

As an institution of learning for the man down and out, where he not only can study but be warm all winter, discuss his own problems and review his ramblings, the Hobo College was established 20 years ago by James Eades Howe, "millionaire hobo." Since then, it has become a recognized institution in Chicago. Artists, clerics, sociologists and even society leaders have from time to time taken part in its work.

Howe, son of wealthy parents, early became interested in humanitarian work. In his youth, he learned the tramp's psychology through personal contact with them. At Harvard and Oxford he studied with a view to bettering humanity.

The hobo, and through him the world can be improved by education, Howe holds. The money he inherited, therefore, went to founding the Hobo College. Counterparts of it have been founded in other cities.

"Students" of the college attend during the winter months. In the summer they disperse to the harvest fields, to other migratory seasonal occupations, or to the hobo life.

These nights a week will be given to instruction this winter. Industrial law, economics and health are the courses offered, each handled by competent instructors. There is also a box at favorite operatic or theatrical attractions—also, free meals certain evenings. These meals can always be counted upon to swell attendance at the classes.

The one successful man, the man highly educated who cannot seem to find his niche, the boy who never had a chance and the vagrant from [illegible] all are enrolled at the college. Some find mental stimulus and a means of becoming useful citizens again, others find in the institution its comforts, free from "flophouses" atmosphere. Its doors are always open, its warmth continuous, its piano is free to all and there is always a plentiful supply of books and magazines.

DO YOU PAY YOUR BILLS?

When one makes a purchase at a retail store and says, "Charge it," he is not asked the pointed question, "When do you intend to pay," but if the purchaser has heretofore paid his accounts promptly the account is opened. It should be paid the first of the following month.

You Know Your Credit Standing—So Does Every Merchant

Is there very much difference between the fellow who takes something that does not belong to him and the man who buys merchandise on credit and does not pay for it? There may be times when one cannot meet all obligations at the appointed time, but there is never a time when an honest effort should not be made to settle up or make satisfactory explanations.

A Deadbeat Is a Menace to Any Community

He who buys beyond his ability to pay is closely akin to the one who does not intend to pay.

CREDIT IS CAPITAL—DON'T OVERDRAW YOUR ACCOUNT

Representatives of the members of the Retail Merchants' Association meet every two weeks to discuss credit transactions, to report names of those who have abused the confidence placed in them by not paying their bills as agreed, and to report the names of all who have passed bad checks.

Oil Belt Field Trials Expected to Be Largest Ever Held in America

By PAUL W. PARKIN

'Bring your dog to Bowie on a train and take him home in a Ford'

The foregoing is the slogan which has been adopted by the boosters of the coming Oil Belt Field Trials to be held in Bowie next February—trials which will probably be the largest ever held in America both in number of actual entries and in the size of the cash purses offered.

To state that the trials will be the 'largest ever held in America' is taking in a lot of territory. But the trials at Bowie last year had the largest entry of any trial ever held in America and according to L. O. Doc Landon, well known Wichita Falls sportsman who is treasurer and field secretary of the Oil Belt Field Trial association this year's trials will be larger by fifty per cent in entries and attendance.

Mr Landon and J. L. Reeder of Peoria Ill general secretary of the association have devoted much time the past few months in the interest of these trials and while plans are far from complete as yet a general idea of what is to happen has been made known.

Irish Setter Event.

A 'Red Special' will be held this year open only to Irish Setters. This event will be first on the program and will be one of two important field trials of the present year for red dogs the other being held by the Independent Field Trial association at Sparta Ill. The Red Special is attracting Irish Setter fanciers all over the country and many a good red dog will be in Bowie when the whistle blows.

The Amateur All Age and Derby will this year be open only to dogs which have never competed in open trials. These events will therefore be amateur strictly. Members may send or bring their good dogs to Bowie with the knowledge that they will not have to compete with dogs which have had the benefit of a season's experience on the big circuit. This ruling is expected and no doubt will add very largely to the amateur entries.

The prizes in these two events will be the usual silver trophies properly engraved and in addition a Ford touring car to the winner of first in both the Derby and All Age.

Puppy Stakes.

The Puppy stake will be open to puppies whelped on or after January 1 1921 the winner of first place to receive the Bettison trophy a handsome silver cup donated by Dr D. L. Bettison of Dallas.

This cup stands four feet high and compares favorably with the trophies offered in any championship held in America. It was designed and cast especially for this event and is now being exhibited throughout the large field trial centers of the south. This cup must be won three times by an owner to become his permanent property and is a trophy that any dog lover would be glad to own.

The open all age and derby will have cash purses of $600 guaranteed in each event and coming as it does immediately after the south Texas trials is assured of a large entry of high class big circuit dogs. Seven of the best known handlers in the country have already written for entry blanks and kennel reservations.

$1,000 For Championship

Last and most important the championship which will be open to dogs which have won in recognized open trials on the big circuit carries a cash purse of $1 000 to the winner and $200 to the runner-up. It will of course be worth the while of any bird dog enthusiast to see this race alone as the biggest dogs in the country will be there and bird dog history will be made.

This will be the second year that the association has chosen Bowie Texas as its headquarters. Everything possible in the way of cooperation has been done and will be done by the Bowie chamber of commerce. Last year they gave the boomers the keys to their city and nothing was too good for them though the housing conditions were not ample the first few days there will be plenty of room for all this year. Arrangements are being made to care for many more visitors than attended the trials last year.

10 000-Acre Course

The chamber of commerce at Bowie has obtained leases on 10 000 acres to be used as the field trial grounds twice the size of last year's course, and two full three hour heats can be run over a country ideal for the purpose. The quail have been and will be protected up to the time of the meeting by a deputy game warden whose entire time will be devoted to keeping shooters away. Feed on the grounds will be left and plenty of water provided to keep the birds on the course.

The kennel arrangements this year are ample to care for 250 dogs. A warm dry well ventilated building has been provided 100 feet by 250 one block from the public square in Bowie and the association feels it has been very fortunate in securing the services of Dr L. I. Lucey of Wichita Falls who will have charge of the kennels and of the dogs in the kennels. Dr Lucey has probably had as much experience in kennel management as any veterinary in the country, having formerly had charge of Dr Shelly's kennels and have managed kennels of Paul Rainey on his famous trip to Africa.

Wichita Falls was better represented over the course last year than any other one city in the country. The city's proximity to the course no doubt was largely responsible, but it is doubtful if there is a city of its size in the United States which is better known in the dog world or one which claims the owners of more famous dogs.

Three local dogs which will be featured are Champion Tom Hall owned by Bass and Dillard Trilution, owned by Claude Woods and Dan Turbeville owned by O. L. Dahl.

Tom Hall recently won the amateur championship at the All America Trials in Saskatchewan from a field of sixteen starters. The black and white pointer found and handled game in both of his heats. Tribulation won a place in the Ohio Stakes and is handled now by Chester Harris as is Dan Turbeville.

Entries Already In

Enthusiasm in this section of the country is running high. Entries have already started to come in and Mrs Landon figures that the high tide of participation of his time from now until opening day will be taken up by the trials.

L. O. (DOC) LANDON

The Oil Belt trials marks the climax of the dog game in the United States. It is the last event of the season of any importance and as a result nearly every champion is expected to be on hand.

Officers of the Oil Belt Field Trial association who are planning to make the trials the biggest success ever attempted are James C. Foster of Fort Worth president, Dr D. L. Bettison of Dallas vice president, Dr A. L. Corcoran of Peoria vice president, H. V. Lee of Fort Worth vice president, Dr A. B. Potter of Oklahoma City vice president, J. L. Reeder of Peoria general secretary and L. O. Landon of Wichita Falls treasurer and field secretary.

The boards of advisors includes E. T. Cole of Ferris Texas chairman, Dr A. B. Potter of Oklahoma City vice chairman and H. V. Lee of Fort Worth, Dr A. L. Corcoran of Peoria, W. T. Hall of Houston, J. W. Gray of Caldwell Texas, Claude Woods of Wichita Falls, W. S. Pierce of Fort Worth, Rev O. F. Miller of Bowie, Ezra Williams of Bowie and Dr Hedges of McKinney, Texas.

Billy Evans Says

ROMMEL

Who is the greatest pitcher of the year in the majors?

That question is ably decided on results attained.

Such being the case you can't overlook Eddie Rommel of the Athletics.

Rommel is a pitcher who perhaps doesn't impress the average spectator simply because he does no particular thing that makes him stand out.

When a pitcher has great speed that alone impresses the fans. If he has a big sweeping curve it makes them talk.

Rommel is noted for his knuckle ball. It is more difficult to hit than curves or speed but does not impress the fan simply because it is thrown without much speed. It drifts lazily to the plate wobbling hither and thither on its way up.

Rommel is a great pitcher. He has good speed which he uses only rarely. He tries to make the batsmen hit bad balls. He attempts to make them swing at his curve or wave at the slow ball or knuckle fooler.

Now for Rommel's forte. If the batsman refuses to hite at bad balls and gets Rommel into a hole he can come over with his fast one.

Great control is a most necessary asset for every pitcher belonging in Rommel's range. When it is necessary to get them over he invariably delivers.

In addition to his ability to pitch Rommel is a great fielder. There are five men on the infield when he is working in the pitcher.

OFF DAY FRIDAY FOR CUBS AND WHITE SOX

CHICAGO Oct 6.—[illegible] the city series between the Cubs and White Sox scheduled for tomorrow morning has been called off in the interest of the game. The Cubs and White Sox will play a double header Sunday. It was the first victory for the nationals since 1919.

FANS DISSATISFIED WHEN SECOND GAME IS CALLED BY UMPS

By Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct 6.—The Giants and the Yankees have attempted to appease thousands of fans who were not a whit satisfied when the second world series game was called by umpires in the tenth inning with the score tied 3 3 by giving the entire days receipts to disabled soldiers and charity returned today to the business of settling the championship.

The umpires said it was too dark to play when they called a halt but there were few fans who agreed with them about the condition of daylight. It may have been dark maybe Umpire Hildebrand was fooled by Coogan's bluff which plays queer tricks with its shadows sometimes. Anyway there was quite a difference of opinion in the matter.

Some three or four thousand of the fans could not forget their dissatisfaction. They had watched the Yankees fight a long uphill battle after Irish Meusel's homer into the left field bleachers had counted three runs for the Giants in the first inning and they wanted to see a finish. They couldn't understand why this wish should not be granted them. And they fussed.

They railed at the umpires until the umpires found cover, then because there was no one left on which to vent their feelings they turned to Commissioner Landis the boss of all major league baseball and they said to him many things.

Commissioner Landis didn't have anything to do with calling the game but he made a nice target for their bombardment of criticism. Having talked themselves out, they went home.

Give Receipts Away.

The owners of the clubs and the players did not want anybody to think the game had been called deliberately so that they could play another game and take in more money, so after consultation with Landis they decided they wouldn't keep one red cent.

And so the third game with the Giants at home again is on today. McGraw's men still have the edge, having won the first game and today they will play behind Pitcher Deacon John Scott who displayed quite some twirling cunning during the latter part of the season. Miller Huggins has selected White Hoyt the youth who caused the Giants on and of worry in the 1921 series in an effort to even things.

Ryan and McQuillan are in shape and ready to assist Scott should the Yanks batters take too kindly to his delivery. Carl Mays with his submarine style warmed up yesterday when it looked as if Shawkey might not go so well and he was letted the same job today.

Casey Stengel the Giant regular centerfielder probably will be relieved today by the youthful Cunningham Stengel after beating out a slow roller to Scott in the second inning of the second game pulled up lame at second after Snyder had hit safely.

McGraw removed him and Cunningham ran. It was reported this morning that Stengel may be out for a couple of days.

McGraw is elated over the showing of his pitchers. They said they weren't in a class with those of the Yanks. Neither Ryan and Barnes haven't been so awful have they.

Barnes Encouraged Early

Jess Barnes had a lot to encourage at the very start of yesterday's tie game when Meusel's homer gave him three runs but Jess had to be good in those ten innings to keep the Yanks down. They got back one of three runs in their half of the first when Bancroft after making a good stop on Dugan's rap heaved over George Kelly's head. Dugan went to second on the miscplay took third on Ruth's infield out and scored on Lipp's twister to Kelly which went for a hit.

The Yankees second run came in the fourth when Ward lifted the ball over the bleacher signboards for a trip around the bags. Doubles by Ruth and Meusel accounted for the tying run in the eighth.

Shawkey's work after the first inning was all to the good. He was still a bit wobbly in the second and third but pulled through and for the remaining seven innings allowed but three hits one of them being a single to center in the tenth.

The newest concoction of dope has it that the Yankees despite the one game lost have an equal chance with the Giants to win the series. The argument for this is that the Giants have used two of their best pitchers and have won one game while the Yankees have used two of their best pitchers and lost one game. This leaves the Yankees with two pitchers rated among the top notchers a Hoyt and Mays while McQuillan Scott and Ryan the remaining regulars on the Giant staff are not regarded so highly.

PEP YOUNG'S RECREATION WASTING GOLF BALLS AT ABOUT 90 CENTS A SHOT

PEP YOUNG

By DIDDEY SIDDALL

NEW YORK Oct 6.—No wonder they call him Pep Young.

He's one of a kind with all the wholehearted enthusiasms that go with the under size. Not the giants right fielder was a veteran to be for he became a full fledged member of John McGraw's team back in 1917 when he was only 18 years old.

At the Giant clubhouse in the Polo Grounds an attendant was asked where Young could be found. It was 11 a.m.

Plays Golf Prob'ly

Pep's golf practice was the logical reply.

Where does he play anxiously asked Nan Cohen the mascot photographer whose feet were sore from chasing ball players all over New York and environs. Nan's fear of having to pursue Pep into the golf links didn't last long.

He came right in to the Polo grounds and the gulf.

And sure enough there he was long in the outfield swinging golf balls over the stand with a lofter. Every mean a ball lost to the world forever and [illegible] Young [illegible] Pep grinned a welcome. It was the grin of a kid who likes everything and everybody and whom everybody likes.

A few questions soon revealed Pep practicing all by himself on the Polo grounds. Was John McGraw told him to lay off golf in the summer regular golf that is. Why? Because the peppy Pep didn't know when to quit. Left to his own devices he would chase a golf ball for 36 holes in the morning and tire himself out for the afternoon game. Four instructive lessons him with pep in reserve for the afternoon session.

He's a handsome clean cut youngster and one of the best dressers on the team.

Pep's Texas Drawl

He talks with a southwestern drawl as is proper in the case of a young man with his parents in the south.

Although he is a Texas irrigation farm Pep doesn't raise hominy as an agricultural.

Winter is when I get my golf in he explained as the blame [illegible] in the national links in San Antonio.

LONGHORNS EXPECT HARD GAME WITH PHILLIPS SATURDAY

AUSTIN TEXAS Oct 6.—A hard scrimmage program which has been in order with the Texas Longhorn football squad since the initial game of the season against the Austin college eleven from Sherman has hardened Coach Whitaker's men in to better form for the contest with Phillips college here Saturday according to Longhorn coaches.

Results of the contest with the Sherman squad indicate clearly that the university team will have no easy victory against Phillips this week. The Oklahoma school has made somewhat of a reputation it is pointed out for producing winning gridiron teams, evidenced two years ago when the Longhorn eleven went down in defeat at the hands of the northerners by a score of 10 to 0.

Coach Whitaker declares however that the Texas team is showing up in good form considering the inexperienced material with which the coaches had to deal at the beginning of the season. Indications are that all of the Longhorn players have recovered from slight injuries in last week's game and hope is expressed that Captain 'Swede' Swenson will be in the lineup this week. The Texas captain was not in the game last week because of recent sickness.

In order to encourage greater support and a better spirit among university students Coach Whitaker has announced that gates at Clark field will be opened each Monday afternoon to permit rooters to watch the Longhorn squad in practice. Heretofore there has been no open period and it is expected this new feature will add to the enthusiasm shown by the student body.

Numerous substitutions probably will be made in Saturday's game with Phillips the same as was done in the Austin college game it is said in an effort to strengthen the Longhorn combination. The Phillips game is expected to shed considerable light on the working strength of the Longhorns during the remainder of the season.

BENTON HURLS SAINTS TO VICTORY OVER ORIOLES

BALTIMORE MD Oct 5.—Mainly because of wonderful pitching by Rube Benton former big league southpaw the St Paul club evened up the series with Baltimore by capturing the second game this afternoon 5 to 1. Benton held the hard hitting International leaguers to three hits and after McAvoy had driven in Baltimore's only run in the second inning with a single was never in danger.

Opposed to Benton was Lefty Groves the gaunt side wheeler who fanned 12 players of the New York Giants in an exhibition game last week. Groves pitched nine full innings today but was wild and his teammates had two errors back of him were responsible for his defeat.

Another home run by St Paul was Hass who hit a long one in the second inning with one on and followed it with a triple in the seventh.

Receipts of Second Game Go to Charity And Disabled Vets

NEW YORK Oct. 6.—The entire receipts from yesterday's world's series game between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees will be given to disabled soldiers and charities of New York city Commissioner Landis announced last night.

The total receipts amounted to $1 00 4 a record for a world series game.

In a statement issued to newspaper men who had been called to his hotel room Commissioner Landis gave no direct explanation for the decision. He referred however to the fact that many spectators were dissatisfied with the ending of the game. He made no reference to the mistreatment accorded him by a large number of fans when he was leaving the field.

His statement is as follows:

Under baseball law the umpires are charged with sole authority of calling a game on account of darkness. In exercise of this authority today's game was called by them at the end of the 10th inning. Many spectators were of the opinion that the game might have continued.

Of course the umpires on the field are in much better position to judge conditions that effect play. But regardless of any question whether this decision was erroneous the two New York clubs acting for themselves and their teams have decided with the approval of the commissioner that the entire receipts of today's game shall be turned over to funds for the benefit of the disabled soldiers and to the charities of New York city.

This will give the players the clubs and the baseball commission a share in the next three games. The record made in yesterday's game however will be included in the records of the series.

SIMMONS BANKING ON STRONGEST TEAM EVER PUT ON FIELD

With three weeks of scrimmage and two non T. I. A. games behind them the Simmons college Cowboys are rapidly rounding into shape for the big clash with the T. C. U. Horned Frogs here October 14.

Yeager the sensational little quarterback of last season returned last week and Coach Hays has seven of his 1921 letter men back together with a good share of the best high school and junior college material and second string men of last year. Competition has been strong in the Cowboy camp it is understood the coaches at opportunity to select a squad which is expected to develop into the strongest football machine the Simmons college has ever put out.

With a line averaging 18 pounds heavier than last year's line and a backfield which lines up at 185 still heavier than the Cowboys lugging team than the one which defeated the Horned Frogs at the West Texas fair last year by the score of 7 to 7.

The experience of the two games played and the one with Baylor undoubtedly will serve to show up the weak spots in the machine. It is well demonstrated that practice during the coming week.

Frogs Haven't Played Yet

The relative strength of the two teams cannot be determined very accurately by the game. The Frogs have played but one game yet this year but Hays is profiting by his experience of last year and is taking no chances.

The game last Saturday with the New Mexico Aggies proved that the Cowboys are a strong team but is no gauge that it was last year. The score was all that it should be the offense fell down at times.

It is likely however that there will be some shifting in the backfield to strengthen the offense. Coach Hays has hinted he may move Hodge to shift to the quarterback position and place Knox at the signal position or a half back with Hodge. Camp Kimbrough Hudson Knox and Thompson all experienced backfield men are vying for positions. A fast and aggressive backfield is assured for the T. C. U. game.

The Cowboys were victors over such teams as T. C. U. Trinity university Daniel Baker N. M. M. I. and Denton normal last year.

One Badly Pitched Ball By Shawkey Keeps Him Out of Hall of Fame

By BILLY EVANS

POLO GROUNDS NEW YORK Oct 5.—The story of the second game of the world series can be written around one badly pitched ball. The badly pitched ball was turned into a rather fluky Polo grounds home run. It gave the Giants a three run lead as two were on at the time. It was a physical not mental error on the part of Bob Shawkey. That one mistake the badly pitched ball keeps Bob Shawkey from having his name enrolled in the hero list.

EVANS

Emil Meusel of the Giants is notoriously weak on a low curve on the outside. Joe Bush proved that in the opening game of the series. It was figured Shawkey with his fast breaking curve would be equally successful against the Giants heavy hitter. Meusel came to the bat in the first inning with Groh on second and Frisch on first as the result of two clean hits. Two of the first three balls pitched to Meusel were sharp breaking curves low and on the outside. He looked rather foolish on both of them swinging wildly and missing. With the count two balls and a strike Shawkey's next pitch undoubtedly was intended to be a low breaking curve. Pitchers are not always able to control the course of the ball. This one refused to obey the dictates of the Yanks star pitcher. Instead of breaking low and outside the pitch was a curve ball that was letter high and slightly inside. It was the style liked best by Meusel. He took a healthy cut at the ball stepping into it with vigor and pulling it into the left field bleachers. Bob Meusel, brother of the Giants slugger backed up against the left field bleachers ready to make the catch. The drive however had just enough carry to clear the barrier and land into the front row of the bleachers. Bob Meusel could have easily made the catch on the ordinary playing field.

Shawkey Hurls Well

After such a discouraging start Shawkey pitched a most courageous game and richly deserved a tie. Had he been able to sacrifice successfully he would have been returned the winner. More of that later. After the second inning Shawkey was invincible only two safe hits being made off his delivery. He improved as the game advanced only 3 batters facing him in the last seven innings. His curve ball broke beautifully for him and he was stronger at the finish than Barnes.

The other break of the game second in importance to Meusel's home run also had Shawkey playing a leading role this time as batsman rather than pitcher. The Yanks by virtue of hitting had managed to tie up the three run lead they had spotted the Giants. In the first inning Lindstrom doubled on Dugan's grounder followed by Lipp's hit scored Lindstrom in a run. In the fourth a terrific drive over the left field fence by Ward added another to Babe Ruth and Meusel in the eighth inning evened the count. Now for the second big thrill of the day.

With one down Scott hit safely. Shawkey started to the plate and was called back. Huggins ordered him to pinch hit undoubtedly he wanted to hit because he showed that he was a lively hitter. However the manager's judgment prevailed. Shawkey turned to the pitcher but there was a mix up. In the effort to get it to the signal position or a half and with Hodge Camp Kimbrough Hudson Knox and Thompson all experienced backfield men vying for positions a fast and aggressive backfield is assured for the T. C. U. game.

The Cowboys were victors over such teams as T. C. U. Trinity university Daniel Baker N. M. M. I. and Denton normal last year.

BOX OFFICE WINS SECOND CONTEST WRITES TOM SIMS

By TOM SIMS

POLO GROUNDS NEW YORK Oct 5.—Well the second game of the world's series went 3 to 3 in favor of the box office.

Giants played the Yanks and Yanks played the umps.

First two innings fans played seat seat where is my seat?

Either all the fat people had the wrong seats or all the people in wrong seats were fat people.

Section 6 got the decision in this I had 35 to 432 corns mashed to section 9 a 23 456 789.

They called it the grandstand because everyone was standing.

In the third inning when the ball game was first noticed a lady said Look Henry. The score is 30 to 10. Mr Ruth has made only one touchdown.

She probably thinks the Giants won by over 2 00 000.

Receipts were about $110 000 but the price of several lost balls must be deducted.

No one knows where one foul ball went. The only clue is that Irvin Cobb had his mouth open.

Score was tied in the eighth. It stood Giants 3 000 000 and Yanks 1 011 000.

Then Ruth came up and one man said. That big bum can't hit a flock of barns and Babe hit. And Whee go on Babe I knew it was in you.

After that the one eyed men got their money's worth.

Our real national sport is yelling.

The stars were Ruth Meusel and Shawkey. Several others stars were out but out too often.

Frisch is still leading Yanks master by seven picked up bats.

Hildebrand turned over a baseball in his hand three minutes and decided it was one.

The quartet of umps called Ward out in B flat.

Must be someone here from St Louis. A pop bottle landed in the field.

Rumor says Yanks or Giants will try to win third game.

We were unable to verify this.

STAGG HAS TOUGH PROPOSITION THIS YEAR AT CHICAGO

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 6—Undaunted by the fact that he faces one of the most difficult tasks of his 30 years as football mentor at the University of Chicago, Amos Alonzo Stagg, veteran coach of the Maroons, has gone about the job of turning out a team to face one of the hardest schedules in the school's history.

This schedule includes games at home with Princeton on October 28 and the 60-year-old coach is working to make his 31st team the superior of his reign. Coach Stagg, affectionately known among students and alumni for two decades as "the Grand Old Man" has two large gaps in his formation that he must fill and fill with capable men if his eleven is to compete successfully in the "big ten" schedule and the 10 games outside the conference. Besides playing Princeton, Chicago will meet Georgia here next Saturday.

While he has much material from which to choose most of his aspirants are lacking in university experience and there are hopes that a "dark horse" may emerge. The most important position to be filled is that of quarterback to replace Milton Romney, the "Utah flash," who was declared ineligible last spring.

Stagg's job has been made the more difficult because "Bobby" Cole, the substitute pilot, was graduated last June and none of the several aspirants thus far have made a strong bid for the position. Among the candidate is Alonzo Stagg Jr., Coach Stagg's son.

The other gap is in the line. Captain Harold Lewis is the only veteran of last year's team as a tackle position and none is left at the guards. A number of the members of last year's freshman team are trying for these positions and it is believed that Coach Stagg will not have as much trouble here as in finding a quarterback.

Coaching Since 1892

"Old Man" Stagg has coached University of Chicago football teams since 1892. Some of them have lost, others have won, but it is Coach Stagg's boast that none of them played unfairly. His only demand is that every player learn his rule that "It is beter to lose fairly than to win unfairly." Short, heavyset and with iron-gray hair, the stocky coach has won the respect and admiration of students and alumni alike. Some alumni have complained that he has made mistakes, but in a short time, according to a campus publication, they "were teaching their children that the president of the United States is a great man, that John D. Rockefeller is a good man, but the man who is both great and good is Amos Alonzo Stagg."

The veteran coach has seen the rise of football at the university. When he first appeared but 10 men responded to his call for recruits and it was necessary for him to fill one position himself so his outfit could be put on the gridiron. Now football is the major sport at the university and every student who thinks he has a chance to make the team is expected by the coach to turn out.

Captain Lewis, mainstay of the Chicago line, is helping the coach to whip the team into shape and his task also is to find an acceptable quarterback. Lewis, a tall curly-haired blond youth, is also the president and leader of the honor commission of the university and a member of the Bible study committee of the Y. M. C. A. On the gridiron he is transformed into a giant in moleskins and jersey.

Lewis himself is an excellent tackle or guard. He distinguished himself in the game against Princeton last year by his hard consistent tackling and plunging.

In addition to the strenuous duties as leader of the football squad, Lewis is expected this year, as head of the honor commission, to direct the university's campaign against ticket scalping and other unsportsmanlike practices against which the efforts of the body are directed.

WING POSITIONS NOT BOTHERING BIBLE

Capt. Wilson and Evans Rank With Best Ends in Conference.

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—No team in the Southwestern conference is as well protected in first line wings as the Texas Aggie team which meets the University of Tulsa eleven at Fair park stadium next Tuesday, October 10—Dallas day at the State fair. With Captain "Pony" Wilson, all-conference end of last season and a three-year veteran playing his final year for Bible, and Evans, a youngster from San Antonio, a year further along in the game than he was when he broke in on conference fields last year there is no question of the ability of the Aggie wing guardians.

Both are tall, rangy ends, both are accurate and well drilled tacklers. Wilson's wonderful play against Centre last year will stand out for years as one of the finest exhibitions of end play ever seen in the southwest. It showed of what this splendid player is capable—when he roved the field under punts and passes, on defense tackled and got his men and on offense pointed interference or snatched passes out of the air with extreme facility.

But the big thing to watch this year will be the change in the style of the Farmers' end play. For three seasons Bible's extremity wardens have fitted into his theory of defensive play. They have helped the waiting game. This year the Aggies are to play an offensive game, and the ends must shift to play it. Watch Wilson and Evans this year for two of your Southwestern stars. Nature made them for offensive ends.

There is little worry in the ranks of Aggie supporters over the ability of the wings to hold the Tulsa attack next Tuesday. Howard Payne could not circle them, and Dr Acker's squad will find as much trouble. Besides, the Aggies have a couple of youngsters coming in from the freshman eleven who should be able to fill in for either of the two stars if they are crippled.

North Texas interest is centering on the first big stadium game already. The demand on the seat sale has been heavy since they were placed on sale Thursday morning at Werth Wimberley's in Dallas, where mail or wire reservations will be taken care of.

There will be no trouble about seats, however, for the stadium will seat 15,000 comfortably.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL LINEUP FOR HENRIETTA TILT

A light workout was on the program for the high school gridders Friday afternoon as a final preparation for Saturday's game at Athletic park with Henrietta. It will be the second interscholastic league game of the season for Coach Jones' charges and the mentor is confident that the team will ride through to a victory without any undue difficulty.

Two changes are apt to be made in the lineup when the whistle blows at 2:30. Mackechney's work at quarterback the past week has convinced Jones that the youngster is worthy of a tryout in a regular game and he may be calling signals at the start of the game. It is also understood that Bracken will start at one of the wing positions in place of Frank Shaw. Because a player starts the game, however, it does not necessarily follow that Jones is using what he considers his first string men. He is still experimenting and the chances are that 25 or 30 men will get into the fray before it is over. The other members of the squad who started against Burkburnett last week will probably start Saturday with Kiker on the other end, Coffey and Baldwin tackles; Walker and Copeland, guards; Harris, center, Stringer and Moore, halfbacks, and Beach fullback.

Club With Most Confidence Will Win Series–Rickey

By BRANCH RICKEY
Manager St. Louis Cardinals

There are other elements in a world series besides arms and legs and brains.

No baseball player deliberately quits, but I've seen a club lack snap in its play. I've seen men fail to run out their hits and I've seen clubs give up when they were behind.

The most trivial and insignificant thing mentally upsets some players. Failure of new bats to arrive, when expected, due to the fault of some official of the club, will make droopers. Quarters in an upper berth is food for discourse for a week. Bad pitching in batting practice, an inconvenient jump for an exhibition game, feeling of managerial favoritism, a slight domestic difficulty—all may cause trouble.

Discovery of some opponents' signals, or inside knowledge of the opposing club gives a club additional confidence and tones it up for the next game.

The temporary loss of a player frequently causes a club to fight harder.

The promise of prize money, held out as Napoleon held out the promises of booty to his soldiers in the eve of battle, has a good effect on the fighting spirit of a lot of players.

The Giants won the pennant on Sept. 25.

The Yankees were not mathematical winners until several days later. That may be a good break for the Yankees. It surely is if the Giants were to let up in their play. I thought there were unmistakable signs on the part of one or two of the Giants to take things easy in the last game played against the St. Louis club. That sort of thing will beat the Giants sure, if it were to become general.

Frank Frisch's play in the last game against my club was Frank Frisch at his best. He played as though that was the deciding game.

Nine men like him would make a team 99 per cent effective every day.

Now, if the Giants have the Frisch determination to win—why they'll probably win, whether the Yankees have all the pitchers or only four to McGraw's one.

When a whole ball club makes up its composite mind not to lose, such a team can't be beaten, that's all.

Injuries, criticism, poor pitching—all weaknesses become the least possible handicaps to the team that believes in its own strength.

I believe the Yankees and Giants are so evenly matched in playing strength that the club which shows and which has this superior confidence in itself will win the series.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

More "creosote."

A short squib in a well known sporting publication states that Hub Perdue has let it be known that he is through with baseball and that he will return to his home in Gallatin, Tenn., "where he always will be a hero, even if he did spoil a long record by rubbing creosote on the balls Snipe Conley was to pitch." President Harvey is at a loss to know where the information was obtained and declared that it was all news to him. The statement may or may not be true, but if it is it bears out the suspicions of numerous fans.

Clark to Red Sox?

Despite the showing made by him last season with the Tigers, it appears that Jimmy Clark will be a member of the Red Sox club in 1922. Cobb evidently was not satisfied with the work of Gutshaw and Clark around second base as a deal is reported whereby the Red Sox received $25,000, Pitchers Howard Ehmke and Carl Holling and Infielder Dan Clark for Second Baseman Derrill Pratt and Pitcher Rip Collins.

Summa to Stick.

Writing about Homer Summa's work the end of the season with the Indians a Cleveland scribe states that he looks for the former Spudder to be a regular next year.

Spudders Exercise Option.

The Spudders have exercised their options on Clarence Darrough and Bill Fincher, who finished the 1921 season with Omaha, and on Hollis Way, who was with Clovis. All these sales were optional.

Homers Figure

Home runs played a prominent part in the second game of the series as was predicted. Irish Meusel's crack wasn't the justest in the world but it was healthy enough to give the Giants a tie. Aaron Ward's was a real poke, clearing the left field barrier.

He's Still There

Pan Babe Ruth all you want to but he's one of the Yankees' greatest assets just the same. His popularity waned somewhat during the past season but his ability didn't. In the contest held for the most valuable player to his club in the American league the Bambino did not receive a vote. Nevertheless when the official averages of the American league are published it will undoubtedly be found that Ruth led his mates in home runs, runs scored and runs driven in. What would he have done had he been in the 30 games he missed? He has not annexed any honors in the current world series yet but he drove in one of the two runs scored by the Yankees in the first game and scored the tying run in the second after doubling.

West Gets Some Honors

Though the eastern clubs topped the heaving in both big leagues standings have figured it out that the western teams won the most games. In the American the western teams won 195 games and lost 157 with the figures naturally reversed for the eastern. The western clubs of the National emerged victorious in 204 games and were beaten 148 times. Detroit made the best showing of the American league teams against the easterners and the Cincinnati Reds did better than any other club in the National.

HAGEN AND SARAZEN MEET IN UNOFFICIAL MATCH FOR TITLE

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6—Two kings of the world of golf, attired in raiment intended to rival the lilies of the field, met today on the difficult course at Oakmont in the first half of a two day struggle of 72 holes to determine in an unofficial way which champion shall be hailed king—conqueror.

The contestants are Walter Hagen, once of New York, a veteran, but still in his prime, and Eugene Sarazen of Pittsburgh, a black-haired boy of 21 years who flashed into stardom at Skokie last July.

Hagen is open champion of Great Britain. Sarazen is the first youth in history to hold the national professional and national open titles at the same time.

BOEHLER AND FUHR TO BATTLE FOR FIFTH GAME

MOBILE, ALA., Oct. 6—George Boehler, right hander and ace hurler of the Tulsa Oilers, will be used this afternoon in the fifth game of the series with the Mobile club for the western-southern championship against "Lefty" Fuhr, regarded as the leading pitcher of the Mobile Bears. Both of these hurlers have one game each to their credit in this series, but it must be said without being biased that the Oklahoman turned in the best pitching effort. The series today stands two for Tulsa and one for Mobile. The fourth game of the series, played at Dallas (neutral ground), resulted in a tie.

Believes Oriental Tour Will Be of Diplomatic Value

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 6—The proposed tour of the Orient by a picked team of Major league players during the winter and fall will have a "real diplomatic value" President Harding has written Frank O'Neill, sporting writer of the New York Sun, in a letter made public yesterday. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. O'Neill:

"Thank you for your note reminding me that a picked baseball club of major league players is shortly to leave for the Orient to play a series of games with representatives of the

"Some things I have heard about the popularity of baseball in all quarters of the world in recent years have led me to suspect that possibly the great American game may have a real diplomatic value. At any rate, this tour will be one more of those appealing international competitions in athletics that have done so much toward bringing about the right kind of emulation and of promoting good feeling and making better understandings possible.

"Most sincerely yours,

2 ROOSTERS EAT 3574 GRAINS OF CORN IN 5 DAYS, TEST INDICATES

How many grains of corn will two roosters eat in five days?

A test was made at Natringer Baking company's booth at the Texas-Oklahoma fair to determine by actual count how many grains two full grown Rhode Island Red roosters would eat in that period. The number was 3574. The roosters were fed twice daily.

William Duncan, a boy attending the Alamo school, made the nearest guess, 3572. L. S. Vaughan of Dallas was next nearest with 3569. Three persons guessing 3550 tied.

For Chocolate And Fruit Cookies

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

Two eggs
Two-thirds cup sugar
Half cup grated chocolate
Half cup chopped walnut or pecan meats
Half cup citron and sultana raisins chopped
Half teaspoon salt
One teaspoon vanilla extract
One cup sifted flour
One and a half teaspoons baking powder

Beat eggs until thick. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly.

Drop by the teaspoonful on a buttered tin, spread slightly.

Place half a nut meat on top of each and bake about 10 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This recipe will make from 24 to 30 small cookies.

MOLDED SALMON WITH ENGLISH PEAS

One pound salmon freed from skin and bones
Half teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
One and a half cups thin cream or top milk
Two eggs. Slight grating of nutmeg

Put salmon, after removing skin and bones, through the meat chopper. To this add seasonings, eggs slightly beaten and cream.

Turn into a buttered mold, set mold in a pan of water and bake until firm, about 20 minutes. Remove from mold and serve with one cup sauce to which has been added one cup cooked peas.

If this is baked in a border mold it is pretty to serve the peas in center and sauce around the fish.

Domestic Bliss In Kitchenette

Joe Santley and Ivy Sawyer in harmony over the kitchenette table as well as behind the footlights.

Those who have enjoyed the harmony of Santley and Sawyer in the Music Box Revue now learn that they are just as good a "team" at home over the kitchen stove. Joe Santley believes that the days when a woman's place was supposed to be in the kitchen are gone forever—that is unless her husband is in the kitchen with her.

The Santleys are mixing the filling for Virginia Sweet Potato Pie which they unanimously vote to be their favorite dish. Mrs. Santley (Ivy Sawyer) has kindly volunteered these directions:

"I bake the sweet potatoes (sometimes I boil them), and press through a vegetable ricer. I cream the half-cupful of vegetable shortening, which I prefer to lard, as the former has no 'taste' and is also more easily digestible; beat in three-fourths teaspoonful salt and one fourth cup sugar, then four egg yolks, well beaten, one pint of the strained sweet potato, three fourths cup milk and one-half nutmeg grated. The stiff beaten whites of four eggs are then beaten in and the whole light mass is turned into a pie plate lined with pastry. This I bake until the pastry is well cooked and the filling puffy and firm in the center. This makes a pie usually larger than the two of us can eat."

DON'T WASTE STALE BREAD

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University

The war taught us many things perhaps the one most needed in the home was not to waste bread.

Bread is surely the staff of life and every people on earth has some kind of bread. To the highly civilized man, white bread is a necessity.

In cities comparatively few housekeepers bake their own bread. Much is left over from the bought loaf and it is the left over bread which we are to consider.

There is the soft stale bread which later becomes hard and dry. The first is, of course used largely for toast which may be buttered or creamed.

Cut It in Strips.

The slices may be cut in strips or cubes after toasting and be served with soup. Tiny cubes of bread may be fried with onions and fat, and cooked with milk and water for an excellent soup.

Often the toast is used for a garnish. Cut a slice of toast across cornerwise and dip the points in melted butter and chopped parsley.

Bread Pudding.

Then there are the bread puddings! Sometimes they are so poorly made one dreads to suggest a bread pudding lest one recalls a poor dessert by that name and refuses to try another.

But a bread pudding well made is one of the best desserts. First there is the "bread and butter" pudding—then the plain pudding made with crumbs.

This is varied by adding raisins and currants, stewed fruit or by caramelizing the sugar used in it or by adding melted chocolate or cocoa.

Then a more elaborate dessert is called queen's pudding or cold cabinet pudding. The first has the top of the baked bread pudding covered with jelly and a meringue. The second is combined with fruit, canned or fresh and often has stale cake in its makeup.

How to Use Crumbs.

Stale bread crumbs are used in preparing all kinds of scalloped dishes, and as a top covering in dishes "au gratin." Bread crumbs are used in nearly all stuffings either alone with seasonings or combined with meat.

Dried, rolled and sifted they are used for coating croquettes, meat and fish which are to be fried or sauted.

Soft stale crumbs are used for thickening purposes and become, when cooked in milk or stock, the foundation for timbales and soufflés.

The dark brown crusts would best be removed from the slice, leaving the bread white to take a golden color when baked, toasted or fried.

This dark brown crust need not be thrown away, but used with other crumbs for making a chocolate or special pudding where the color will not show.

Soft bread crumbs may be used for thickening sauces, one-fourth cup taking the place of one tablespoon of flour.

After the sauce has cooked and thickened, strain it, rubbing all the bread through the sieve.

The officers of the French army killed during the war reached 18.5 per cent, while 19 per cent of the enlisted men died.

Energize with Raisins

Use more raisins with your foods and get more energy.

Raisins furnish 1560 calories of energizing nutriment per pound. Rich in food-iron also.

A prime fruit-food that everybody would be better for.

Serve stewed as a morning dish. Use in puddings, cakes and pies. Let the children have them with oatmeal.

Sun-Maid Raisins should cost you no more than the following prices:

Seeded (in 15 oz. blue pkg.)—20c
Seedless (in 15 oz. red pkg.)—18c
Seeded and Seedless (11 oz.)—15c

COTTON—GRAIN—FINANCIAL—LIVESTOCK—PRODUCE

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The cotton market was rather unsettled by less favorable reports from the near east, relatively easy Liverpool cables and easier foreign exchanges at the opening today. Those features led to realizing after the advances of yesterday while there was also some Liverpool and southern selling, and after opening steady at a decline of 7 to 14 points, the more active positions soon showed net losses of 20 to 24 points with December selling at 21.17 and January at 21.03. Trade interests were buyers of five or six points from the lowest.

Reiterated reports that ginning was tapering claims and claims of a firmer spot basis promoted a rally. December sold up to 21.45 and January little less active and the market was easy to 21.34. Buying became a little quiet around midday with prices a few points off from the best.

Cotton closed barely steady.

	High	Low	Close
October	21.28	20.80	21.25
December	21.71	21.17	21.61

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—Unfavorable news from the near east, together with poor cables, gave the cotton market a downward twist today, prices losing 15 to 23 points in the first half hour of the session which reduced December to 20.62. Too much rain in some sections of the belt and fear of more wet weather to come were a steadying influence but did not arouse any great new demand.

Cotton closed steady, 18 to 30 points net higher.

	High	Low	Close
October	20.93	20.51	20.90
December	21.00	20.62	20.97

Liverpool Cotton.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 6.—Cotton spot quiet; steady. Good middling 12.67; fully middling 12.52; low middling 11.67; good ordinary 11.12; ordinary 10.62. Sales 5,000 bales, including 3,300 American. Receipts 20,000 bales including 12,600 American.

New Orleans Spot Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—Spot cotton steady, 38 points up. Low middling 19.63; good middling 21.63.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Disquieting news regarding the Turkish situation led to a moderate upturn in the wheat today during the early dealings. Bullish sentiment, however, was checked by dispatches from London, asserting that the outlook was still for peace, although intervals of anxiety were in prospect. Export demand continued active but was largely offset by transporting difficulties east of here and by liberal primary receipts. The opening, which ranged from ½c to 1c higher, with December $1.07½@1.08 and May $1.00@1.00¼, was followed by a reaction wiping out most of the initial gains.

Corn and oats were under considerable selling pressure, and failed to sympathize with the upturn in wheat. After opening unchanged to ½c lower, December 61⅛@61½c to 61½c, the corn market hardened a little and then suffered a general setback.

Oats started ¼ to ½c higher, December 38½c, and later underwent a general sag.

Provisions reflected the upward tendency of hog values.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Disquieting news dispatches from the near east and profit taking by recent buyers and renewed activity on the part of short interests at the opening of today's stock market with the result that most of the list moved quite heavy. Acute weakness of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which sold off 5 points, resulted in heavy offerings of most of the other prominent issues. Losses of from 2 to 3 points were registered by Standard Oil of California, Mexican Petroleum, California Petroleum and General Asphalt. Marine preferred, which was strong yesterday on reports of extra earnings for the third quarter, turned heavy, losing 4½ points in the first hour. Other weak spots were Chandler, Iron Products, Midvale, Baldwin and Coca Cola. There were few exceptions to the downward trend. United States Rubber first preferred advanced a point on declaration of the usual dividend and Sinclair Oil preferred advanced 1½ points. Woolworth and Air Reduction broke through to new high records on small gains.

New York Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Call money firmer; high 5, low 4½, ruling rate 4½, closing bid 5. Time loans firm; 60-90 days 4½.

Twenty million bags a year

but only a limited amount can qualify

Practically every country of the tropical world grows coffee in amounts varying from a few bags up to many millions, with Brazil, Central America and Columbia standing first in order of importance.

High grade coffee is extremely scarce and out of this enormous production, only a very small percentage can pass the tests to which coffees are subjected before being purchased by Hills Bros. Yet none, if used alone, would be satisfactory to the taste of those who have become accustomed to Hills Bros. Coffee, for no single lot of coffee, however fine, is equal to a blend. Every coffee has some particular characteristic. It may have fine flavor, but be decidedly weak, or it may have heavy body but lack in flavor. Of course, there are hundreds of different types, and the combining of these many lots into one perfect coffee is the work of the coffee tester and blender.

This particular division of the coffee business is of the utmost importance, for here counts skill and knowledge that can be obtained in but one way—long years of study and experience. COMMISSIONER BOYD URGES GAME REFUGE FOR THE PANHANDLE

ALSO SUGGESTS ADDITIONAL FISH HATCHERIES IN REPORT.

CALLS ATTENTION TO VIOLATIONS OF THE LAW

Report Declares Dallas Hatchery Doing Splendid Work Raising Crappie Fish.

AUSTIN, Oct 5—W. H Boyd, game, fish and oyster commissioner has completed his annual report to the governor and makes some interesting observations in connection with the fish and game of the state, as well as an accounting of the fish and oyster business.

He recommends a game refuge in the panhandle, additional fresh water fish hatcheries and closed breeding areas in the salt water along the Texas coast where fishermen could not seine and thus do away with restrictions in other waters He reports an increase in quail Mountain sheep and antelope are fast disappearing They will soon be exterminated unless protective measures are taken, he said.

Doves are reported scarcer in north Texas, but plentiful in south Texas He recommends a new adjustment of the open season on doves to fit the different climatic conditions in Texas.

Spring rains, with resulting weeds and growth, furnished food for the young quail, says the report, and the statement is made that the quail will survive civilization Attention is also called to the increase in quail in sections where the 1,200 imported from Mexico were distributed This is particularly true of the valley below El Paso, where they have been seen in large numbers. This shows what can be done in the barren districts, says the report, where quail can be planted and increased in large numbers.

Many Deer Drowned.

A goodly number of turkeys and deer are reported in the large southwest Texas pastures and the ranchmen who have given them protection are praised The high waters of last spring's floods are reported as having resulted in the death of thousands of deer; that while many were drowned, hundreds were driven out of the thickets into the highlands and ruthlessly slaughtered by 'local unscrupulous hunters"

Outside of his report today, Commissioner Boyd said that his office is flooded with letters from over Texas complaining of game law violations by the killing of game out of season He says he has no way of preventing it, as he is allowed only six deputies, though the department has several thousand dollars in the treasury he has collected in hunters' fees and from tax on mudshell and sand. He wants the next legislature to make it possible to use some of this money in the employment of additional deputies to end the game slaughter, otherwise the game will be killed out, he adds.

Mr. Boyd, in his report, declares there are more prairie chickens in the panhandle than for the last 10 years due to the stationing of a deputy in that section last year For years it has been unlawful to hunt prairie chickens, but they were killed while young and easy to get Antelopes Killed Out.

The counties near the Oklahoma line are said to have more chickens than any other part of Texas, with a few scattering in the western counties and in the coast country.

"There are several counties in the eastern part of the panhandle that are ideal for prairie chicken, and quail, Mr. Boyd said, "this section being covered with post oak shinnery, sagegrass and sunflowers in the valleys. We recommend that a game refuge be established in this territory and the game law amended to allow a ten-day open season in August, withea bag limit of ten birds a day and a season limit of thirty' It is further observed that an open season on chickens would afford some sport and permit the killing of chickens, which the farmers kill in the winter to keep them from eating their stacks of grain.

There are 100 pheasants at the Dallas fish hatchery and their eggs have been distributed over the state with good and bad results. Their distribu or created an interest in game protection, which made the effort worth while, though the effort is too amall, so far as stocking the state is concerned.

A recent census of antelope shows 347 head in Texas, where formerly they ranged in Texas by the thousands They would "probably now be exterminated, but the remaining few have taken to the foothills and rough lands where they can not be run down and shot from automobiles"

Three new fish hatcheries are recommended, one in the panhandle, one in the western part of the state and one in the southern part of the state It is recommended that all farmers and stockmen place fish in their tanks The Dallas hatchery is pronounced as doing a splendid work and raising more crappie fish than any other hatchery in the country, but it can not ship to remote parts of the state successfully and can not begin to meet the demands.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Dose May Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day, it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (adv.)

Don't let that rash continue to annoy you

saves a part of their regular income. This fact is too well known to admit argument. On all sides may be seen pitiful instances of men and women who HAVE NOT saved against the rainy day that is sure to come to us all. It is but a matter then to determine the SAFE, CONVENIENT and PROFITABLE medium through which to accumulate these savings. In this connection your attention is directed to this institution as one that will meet every demand that you must have in choosing a medium for saving money. We have first lien mortgages now on 73 Wichita Falls homes that stand behind your savings. These are being constantly increased. We suggest your prompt attention to this matter of saving money.

ALL DEMOCRATS QUALIFIED TO VOTE IN THIRD PRIMARY

IS NOT LIMITED TO THOSE TAKING PART IN PREVIOUS ELECTIONS.

4500 TO 5000 BALLOTS EXPECTED TO BE CAST

Primary Is Result Of Agreement Growing Out of Election Contest Suit.

All voters, qualified under the democratic primary law to vote, will on Saturday determine who will be the nomine for sheriff of Wichita county on the democratic ticket.

The third primary of the year will be held Saturday and the polls will open at 8 o clock and will close at 7 p. m All arrangements have been completed and the boxes with the election supplies were distributed to the precinct judges Friday. Included in each box was a set of written instructions to the judges agreed upon by attorneys for the two candidates

The third primary became necessary as a result of a contest filed by Fred K. Smith, the incumbent, W. W. (Pat) Murphy who, according to the official count, was nominated by a majority of 23 votes at the run-off primary, agreed with Mr. Smith to submit the question to the voters after two days were spent in arguing law questions which were raised in the contest suit

An erroneous impression has been conceived by many voters in the county with reference to who are qualified to vote in the election Saturday. Some have the belief that only those who voted in the run-off primary in August will be permitted to vote at this election.

It is stated that all democrats, whether they voted at either of the first or second primary or did not vote at either one can vote in the election Saturday.

Those who have taken an active part in the campaign express the belief that between 4,500 and 5,500 votes will be polled. At the run-off primary in August a total of 6,200 votes were cast in the sheriff's race.

Much interest, however, centers around the election due to the small difference that existed when the votes were counted at the second primary.

Judging from the results of two months ago, it appears to many that the success of either candidate this time depends entirely on the percentage of friends that will go to the polls Saturday and mark the ticket.

Where to Vote in Saturday's Special Primary

This map is incorrect in one particular. It shows the western boundary of precinct 1 and the eastern boundary of precinct 4 to be Lamar avenue, when Travis street is the real dividing line.

The voting places are designated by small circles. The voting precincts are as follows:

No. 1. Vote at city hall—east of Travis and south of Sixth to Michigan avenue and the Valley tracks

No. 2. Vote at Deatherage marble works—all of city east of Denver tracks and south of river.

No. 3. Vote at Barwise school—west of Denver tracks to road west of power plant, south of Valley tracks to city limits.

No. 4. Vote at court house—west of Travis to Broad, from Sixth south to Valley tracks.

No. 5. Vote at high school—south of Sixth to Valley tracks between Broad and Brook.

No 6. Vote at Sibley-Taylor community house—south of Valley tracks to city limits, west of road by power plant to east boundary of Downing farm

No 7. Vote at Wilson's store—south of Avenue M and west of east boundary of Downing farm, to city limits.

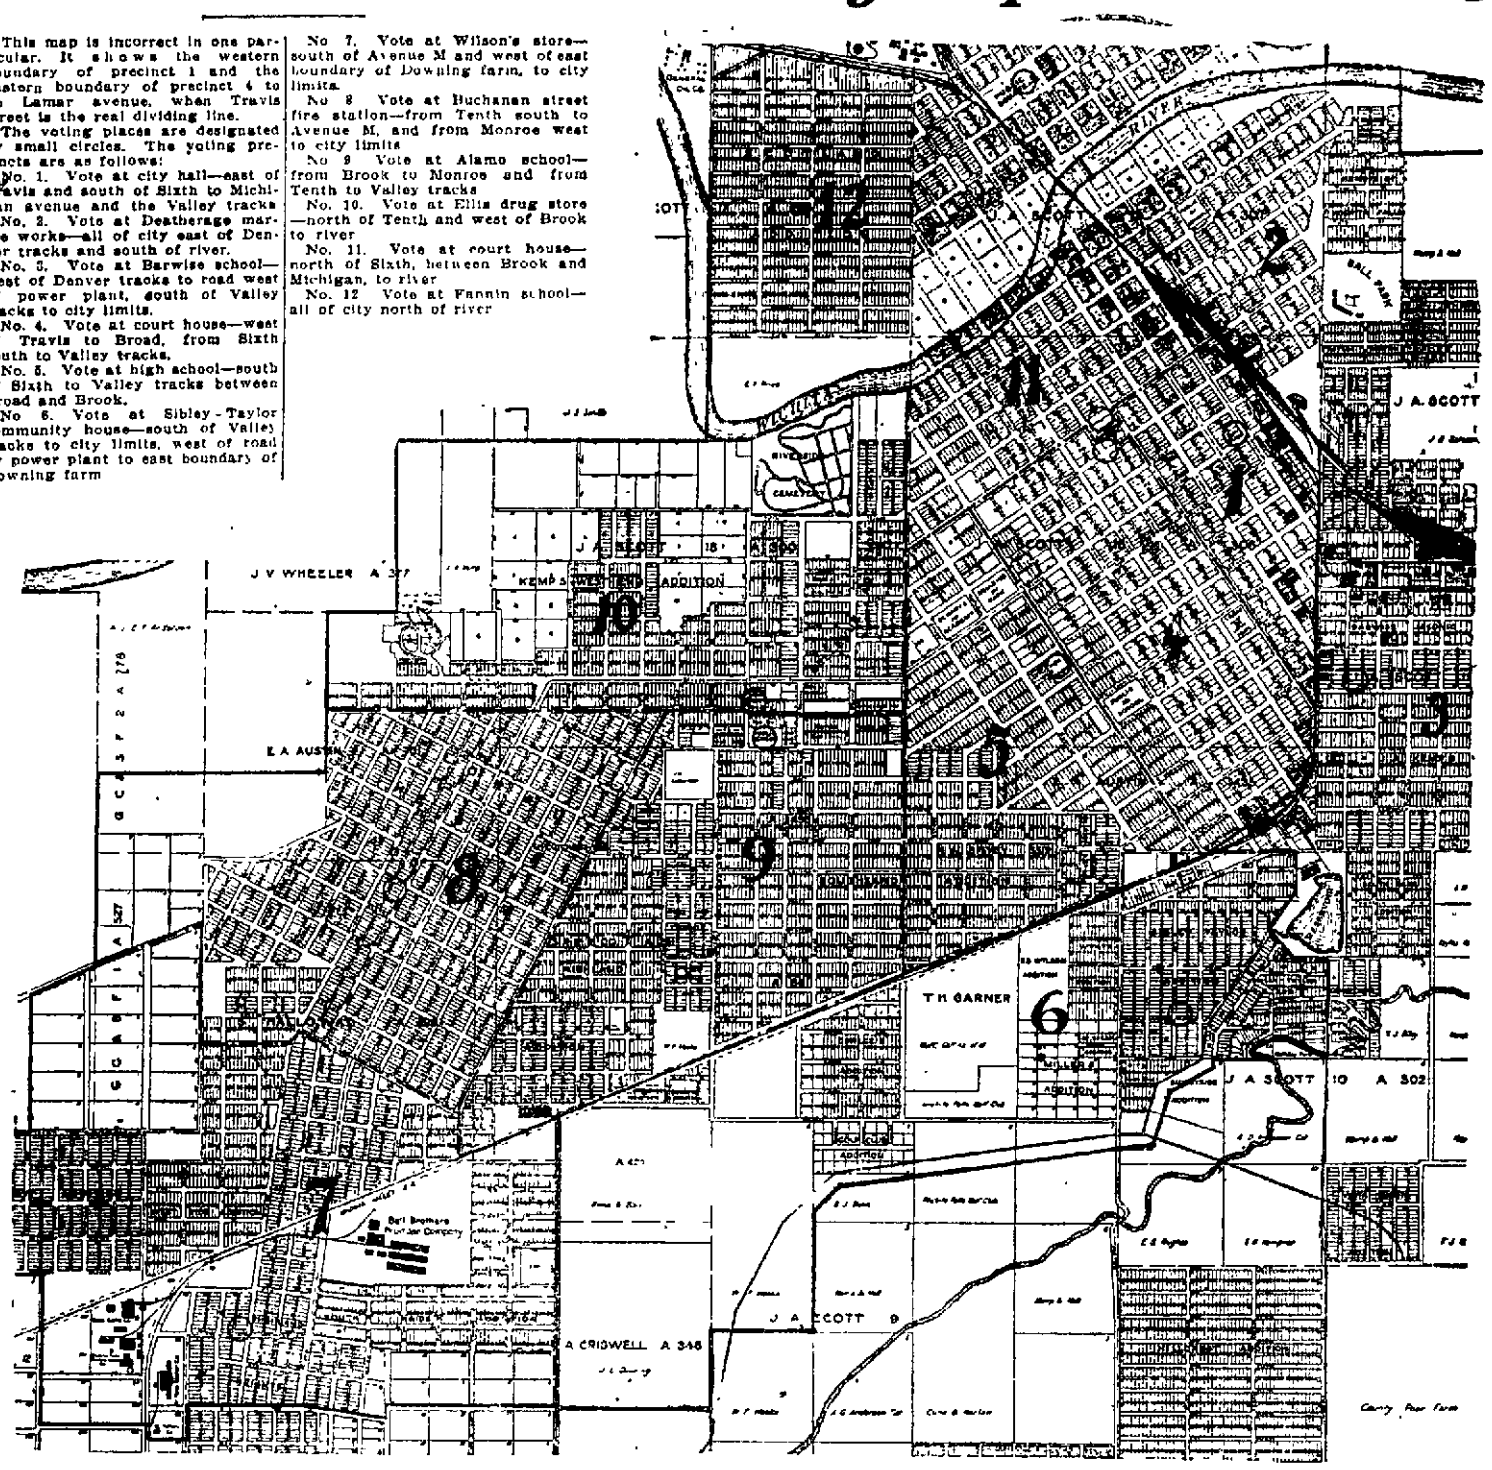
No 8 Vote at Buchanan street fire station—from Tenth south to Avenue M, and from Monroe west to city limits

No 9 Vote at Alamo school—from Brook to Monroe and from Tenth to Valley tracks

No. 10. Vote at Ellis drug store—north of Tenth and west of Brook to river

No. 11. Vote at court house—north of Sixth, between Brook and Michigan, to river

No. 12 Vote at Fannin school—all of city north of river



Moving Away from Original Precinct No Bar to Voting

"In the language of Abe Mulkey," says a letter received by The Times, "please tell me where I am at. Last January when I got my poll tax receipt I was living in the Barwise precinct. I moved to the Tenth street drug store precinct in March and was told by a county official I was still in the Barwise precinct when it came to voting, and I have gone there three times to vote since. I noticed in The Times after the third primary was called that I must vote where I resided. Has the ruling been changed? While it is two miles out of my way to go to Barwise to vote, I am a 'stayer' when it comes to staying with my man; but I will never vote for Earle Mayfield. I have too much of the same blood that coursed through Andrew Jackson's veins over to do that Again, please let me know where I am at

(Signed) "Jackson Hooper 702 Taylor"

Under a special agreement which applies only in Saturday's election voters may vote in the precincts where they now reside, regardless of the precinct in which their poll taxes were paid. This provision agreed upon by the two candidates applies only to Saturday's primary it is contrary to the law that usually applies in primary elections

Article 2951 of the revised statutes reads as follows

"If a citizen in a city of 10 000 inhabitants after receiving his poll tax receipt or certificate of exemption, removes to another ward in the same city before the next election, he may vote at any general election in the ward of his new residence by presenting his poll tax receipt or certification of exemption to the precinct election judges, or by making affidavit that it has been lost or misplaced, which affidavit shall be left with the judges and be forwarded with the election returns. But in all such cases if the removal was to the ward of his new residence in the same city before the certified list of voters was delivered to the precinct judges, he shall appear before the collector of taxes not less than five days before such election or primary election and obtain a corrected receipt or certificate, and his name shall be added to the list of voters for the precinct of his new residence, and he shall not vote in that event unless his name appears on the certified list of voters"

If Mr Hooper or anyone else similarly situated wants to vote in the general election in November, he can do so by having his receipt changed not less than five days prior to election day

Osawatomie, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved back to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while: and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell . . .

"I got so weak I couldn't go I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed.

"I tried medicines, and everything, had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up

"I lay for three months, not able to do anything

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed One day there chanced to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui. They laughed and said I wouldn't take it. But I did. I began with a tablespoonful every two hours.

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months.

I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman
